GERMANS IN PROTEST TO ASSEMBLY AS TO MANDATE

Council Is Ignored When Distribution Method Is Criticised

SECRET POLITICS

Admission Of Former Enemies Agitating Geneva Meeting

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 19.—Germany has officially protested to the Assembly of the League of Nations against its method of distributing mandates, declaring that, under the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, it is illegal for the Entente Powers to distribute mandates among themselves. It is regarded as significant that the protest is addressed to the Assembly and not to the Council of the League.

She expresses the opinion that the ultimate destiny of the German colonies is not a matter to be settled by those who are temporarily controlling them, but by the Assembly which not only controls but originated the mandates.

BRITONS ASTONISHED

Geneva, Nov. 19.—British circles at the Assembly of the League of Nations are astonished at the German note on mandates. It is pointed out that by Article 119 of the Treaty of Versailles Germany definitely renounces all right in her colonies to the Allied and associated powers. Her present contention, it is felt, is difficult to understand since she has already signed away all her rights in the matter.

London, Nov. 19.—A report from Geneva states that considerable canvassing is going on behind the scenes as regards Germany's admission to the League of Nations. A two-thirds majority is necessary for new admissions and though this is improbable, an actual majority is believed to be certain. Behind the Scandinavian group who favor the admission of Germany are South Africa, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, most of the South American and other small States, and, possibly, Great Britain; it is believed that Japan and China will follow Britain's lead. The French group, which is undoubtedly very strong in the League, vigorously opposes Germany's admission, and is supported by Belgium, Portugal, Poland, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and Czecho-Slovakia.

REVISION OF COUNCIL

New York, Nov. 20.—The Geneva correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs that the first formal step towards revision of the Council of the League of Nations was taken when Dr. H. A. Van Karnebeek, the Dutch Minister for Foreign Affairs, introduced a resolution that its constitution be reconsidered either by the Assembly as a whole, or by a committee, in order that its meaning may be made more clear.

The Latin countries have apparently formed a strong working bloc which is likely to take a leading part in future deliberations. Senor Pueyrredon has shown much enthusiasm over the views expressed by lord Robert Cecil and with M. Branting, he is expected to make a strong fight for a broad and bold policy.

M. Viviani is being held in reserve by the French, pending the arrival of Mr. Lloyd George, who is rather expected to make a dramatic entry and support the Liberalism advocated by Lord Robert Cecil.

Dr. Nansen, in a long report on the repatriation of prisoners of war, paid a high tribute to the service rendered by the United States in this connection.

The correspondent of the Tribune comments that the decision of the conference regarding Danzig is far from satisfactory to the Poles, but at the same time permits their statesmen to retire gracefully.

ISHII HEADS POLL

Geneva, Nov. 18.—The secret ballot of the Assembly of the League of Nations for six vice-presidents resulted in Viscount Ishii (Japan) and Jonkheer van Karnebeek (Holland) heading the poll with 32 and 31 votes, respectively. The ballot for the sixth vice-president resulted in the elec-

SIBERIAN LEASE BY VANDERLIP MAY CAUSE DEBATE

(Reuter's Service)

Stockholm, Nov. 18.—Mr. Washington Vanderlip has arrived here from Russia. The American syndicate he represents, which has secured sixty-year lease for the whole of Northeast Siberia, east of the 160th meridian including the penninsula of Kamchatka, will begin activities in the spring of 1921.

The salmon fisheries will be leased to the Alaskan canneries. The syndicate has also acquired a long lease, with right of purchase, of a portion of the Seattle waterfront. In the course of an interview, Mr. Vanderlip denied the rumors of rebellions at Moscow.

New York, November 20.—According to the London correspondent of the Associated Press, Mr. Washington Vanderlip, the American who recently secured large concessions in Siberia, asserted on his arrival in London that the British authorities had demanded that he allow them to inspect some documents in his possession, but that he had refused to do so.

London, November 16.—Commenting on Mr. Washington Vanderlip's "concession" in Siberia, the Pall Mall Gazette remarks that "Mr. Vanderlip may find that there are other parties to be considered in his transaction with those who have been selling off Russia's resources." It points out that Japan recently announced that she would not recognise such concessions, and that "she is able to make things very unpleasant for exploiters in that part of the world."

TWO BILLION LOAN PLAN FOR GERMANY BY U.S. FINANCIERS

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 20.—The New York World states that President Wilson has been asked to approve the organisation of a financial syndicate which proposes to advance a credit of two billion dollars to Germany on the security of German property worth $400,000,000 which was seized by the Allies' property custodian during the war.

The syndicate proposes to help stabilise world trade and increase industrial production by this means.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR MORSE LINES

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 19.—A receiver has been appointed for eight Atlantic steamship companies known as the "Morse Lines" whose outstanding obligations amount to $1,500,000 their assets being unstated. Their failure is attributed to falling freight rates.

Freight Rates On Seas Are Falling

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 18.—Shipping freights continue to fall. The decline in the past six months has averaged over 60 percent, and there are signs that the downward movement is not yet at an end. An example is afforded by the rate for the transport of coal from the United States to France, which was $20.50 at the end of May, and is now $9.

This cheapening of rates is due to the quicker recovery of the world's merchant shipping from the influences of the war than that of its productive machinery. Consequently, there is more tonnage available than there are goods for transport.

The downward tendency is likely to continue for at least some time to come, owing to the fact that there are 7,000,000 tons of shipping being completed in British and foreign yards in the course of next year, but the limit will be reached when shipowners find it necessary to lay up tonnage until the economic recovery of Europe provides more goods for transport.

Chicago, November 20.—United States wheat today became the cheapest in the world, declining five cents on the bushel to $1.69 for December deliveries.

COL. MALONE, M.P. SENT TO PRISON AS SEDITIONIST

Lawmaker And Hero Of Great War Is Held As Bolshevist

HEAVY BAIL FIXED

Weapons And Incendiary Literature Are Found In Flat

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 19.—Col. Cecil L. Malone, M.P., has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Second Division for "having spoken words likely to cause sedition and disaffection at a pro-Bolshevist meeting at the Albert Hall."

London, Later.—An amazing story was told at Bow Street Police Court when Col. Malone, M.P. was brought up for trial under Regulation 42 of the Defense of the Realm Act, for having in a speech at the Albert Hall on November 7 committed an act likely to cause sedition and disaffection among the civilian population.

Mr. Travers Humphrey, for the prosecution, mentioned that when Col. Malone's flat was raided, two loaded revolvers with spare ammunition were found, for which Col. Malone had no licences.

There were found also some pamphlets entitled "Guide for the Brothers of the Red Officers' Corps," containing the warning that there would soon be fighting all over the world, and ending thus: "We will not lay down our arms until the world is ours. We can seduce the Army by propaganda, and half of it, no doubt, will come over to our side."

Further extracts from these pamphlets detailed what steps were to be taken to organise street fighting.

The Counsel for the Defense submitted that the speech at the Albert Hall was mere rhetoric: Col. Malone meant nothing wrong, and he referred to the latter's fine war record.

The magistrate passed sentence, and also bound Col. Malone over for the sum of £4,000 or in default, another six months on the second charge of being a "dangerous person."

Notice of appeal was given.

Bolshevists Demand Vladivostok Accept Chita Government

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, Nov. 20.—M. Krasnoshchekoff has telegraphed an ultimatum to the Vladivostok Government, demanding its dissolution and submission to Chita. The Assembly is sitting tonight.

The members of the Right have adopted a resolution actively to defend Priamur against Bolshevism, and requesting General Kappel's troops to take up the defense of the state, in co-operation with the Ussuri Cossacks.

In the event of the non-recognition of Chita, the Bolsheviki threaten to cause workmen's strikes. The Socialists are undecided how to vote, and the peasants' representatives are divided. All parties are very anxious regarding the result, some of them fearing the Communists and the others a Japanese occupation.

Refugees Flocking To Constantinople From The Crimea

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, Nov. 20.—A Constantinople despatch states that M. be Martel, French High Commissioner to General Wrangel's Government; General Grosseau and the members of the French Military and Civil mission attached to General Wrangel, arrived in the Turkish capital on the 18th on board the Waldeck Rousseau. General Wrangel, the despatch adds, was expected in Constantinople on the 19th or 20th.

The arrival is announced at Constantinople of 105,000 refugees from the Crimea, including 25,000 civilians and 80,000 soldiers.

Lack Of Record Is Shown In America Ship Board Inquiry

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 18.—Amazing revelations have resulted from the Congressional Committee's inquiry into the Shipping Board scandals. For example, it was stated that in August, 1919, no record existed showing how the $2,500,000,000 then expended had been disbursed.

CONSTANTINE TO BE OPPOSED BY POWERS IF HE WINS AT POLLS

London And Paris Unite In Plan To Keep Ex-King From Throne

ROYALTY BETROTHED

Crown Prince Carol, Who Was Here Recently, To Wed Princess Helene

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, Nov. 21.—The French papers confirm the statement that the London and Paris Cabinets are in full agreement on the question of manifesting their strong opposition to the return of ex-King Constantine to the throne of Greece. The two Foreign Officers are in close communication with a view to determining the form their concerted action will take on this question.

It is furthermore announced that M. Leygues will meet with Mr. Lloyd George for the purpose of definitely deciding on the attitude of the two Governments towards the Greek problem. The interview, of which the date has not yet been fixed, will probably take place at London.

It is learned in Athens, that in accordance with the decision taken by the Cabinet, the plebiscite on the return of ex-King Constantine will take place on November 28. Constantine has telegraphed to the Government that he is awaiting the result of the plebiscite to return to Greece.

RUMANIAN ALLIANCE

New York, Nov. 20.—A despatch to the Associated Press from Geneva states:

The engagement of Crown Prince Carol of Rumania to Princess Helene, eldest daughter of ex-King Constantine, was officially announced at Lucerne today.

Paris, Nov. 19.—It is officially stated that in the course of a conversation with the Earl of Derby, M. Leygues intimated that the French Government was absolutely opposed to the return of ex-King Constantine to the throne of Greece and opined that the situation should be examined immediately by the protecting powers.

POWERS CONFER

Paris, November 20.—According to the Petit Parisien conversations are continuing between the French and British Governments regarding a joint policy towards Greece. M. Paul Cambon, the French Ambassador to the Court of St. James, yesterday called at the Foreign Office and informed Lord Curzon of his Government's views.

Athens, November 19.—Parliament will meet on November 26, when the Dowager Queen Olga will be sworn in as Regent.

London, Nov. 18.—Ex-King Constantine is doing his utmost to ingratiate himself with the Allies, despite the public declarations of the British, French, Serbian and American Ministers in Athens that he is regarded as an enemy.

EX-KING ASKS PLEBISCITE

In an interview, the ex-monarch is reported as saying that he will not return to Greece unless recalled by a plebiscite. He protested that he had always been pro-British, but had been misrepresented. His ex-Majesty is so anxious to placate the Allies that he hinted that if one Ministry was unwelcome, he would choose another.

THREE SOUTHERN LEADERS LEAVE HERE FOR CANTON

Sun Yat-sen, Wu Ting-fang And Tang Shao-yi Will Sail Tomorrow

TO REORGANISE SOUTH

Civil Administration To Replace Military In Kwangtung

Three Constitutionalist leaders now in Shanghai, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Dr. Wu Ting-fang and Mr. Tang Shao-yi will leave for Canton on the China Mail liner China, scheduled to sail either on Wednesday night or Thursday morning. They go to the Southern capital to resume their duties as administrative councillors of the Military Government.

Just how many other leaders will accompany them will depend on the shipping accommodations. It is possible that Dr. C. C. Wu, son of the statesman, and Mr. Quo Tai-chi, former secretary of President Li Yuan-hung, will also make the trip.

Although no definite arrangement had yet been made by the old Parliament it is most likely that the members will arrange to hold another extraordinary session in Canton.

HOLD MEETING SUNDAY

Decision to go to Canton was reached at a meeting held by the administrative directors on Sunday. Both General Tang Chi-yao, Tuchun of Yunnan and General Chen Chiung-ming, the victorious Kwangtung commander, have repeatedly invited the three directors to proceed to the South.

"We shall reconstruct the South," said Mr. Tang when interviewed by THE CHINA PRESS yesterday, "and show the world that Chinese can be governed by law." Mr. Tang considers a constructive policy in Kwangtung essential after the suffering that the people have undergone in the hands of the militarists.

"Chen Chiung-ming [illegible] we expected," said Mr. Tang. "We estimated that he would drive out the militarists by next Summer, but he concluded it in 70 days. This, however, is the longest period of war we had in Kwangtung since the establishment of the Republic. The campaigns against Yuan Shih-k'ai and Tuan Chi-jui only lasted for a few days.

TUCHUNATE ABOLISHED

"Chen had only about 20,000 troops and he did very well with his forces. Now that he has succeeded in driving out the Kwangsi army, he will place Kwangtung under civil administration. The tuchunate is abolished."

Coming to the question of internal peace, Mr. Tang said that he is ready at any moment to negotiate with the North through proper channels.

"As soon as the North appoints a proper delegate and withdraws the unification mandate, I will take the first available boat to return to Shanghai and talk peace with Peking."

Mr. Tang considers the calling a conference for the peace parleys as the only means of bringing about the Union of North and South.

French Technology School Planned Here For Chinese

With a contribution of two million francs from firms in France; twelve instructors from the leading French universities and modern French machinery en route, plans are being made for the opening shortly of a French School of Technology in Shanghai for Chinese students.

In order to secure the co-operation and assistance of the Chinese government, Monsieur C. Maybon, former master of the French Municipal School who has returned to Shanghai from Paris, will leave for Peking next week to present the plans for the new school to the authorities.

Monsieur Maybon who has been in France on a year's vacation returns to Shanghai to become principal of the new school.

WILL BE PREP. SCHOOL

The school of technology will be a preparatory institution and its graduates will be qualified to enter the Franco-Chinese University at Lyons.

The faculty will consist of 12 specialists from France who are now on the way to Shanghai and 12 highly educated Chinese. It is hoped that the school will be supported by an equal amount of French and Chinese capital.

The school will be at the former German Medical and Engineering School (Deutsche Medizin und Ingenieurschule), on Rue Lafayette, which was taken over by the French Concession authorities when the war broke out.

Monsieur C. Grosbois, head master of the French Municipal School stated yesterday that the plans for the new school will not be completed until M. Maybon returns from Peking.

Mr. Tsai Yuen-pai and Mr. Hou Tseu-houai leading Chinese educationalists connected with the Peking Chinese University will arrive in Shanghai Wednesday en route to France where they will visit the Franco-Chinese University. It is planned that the graduates of the local school will continue their studies in this university.

Emma Goldman In "Dear Russia" Longs For America

(U. S. Naval Radio)

London, Nov. 21.—Emma Goldman, the leader of the anarchist group in America, who in company with Alexander Berkman and some eighty other radicals, was deported from the United States to Russia a few months ago, recently met Mr. Vanderlip the New York financier in Moscow.

"For God sake," she said fervently, "take me back to America."

There is little or no chance of either Miss Goldman or Berkman ever being permitted to return to the shores of the United States.

EXECUTE SLAYERS OF SING SONG GIRL AT ARSENAL TODAY

Execution of Yen Jui-sung and Woo Tseng-fong, the two men found guilty of the murder of Lien Yin, beautiful Shanghai Sing Song girl, will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Arsenal. A Catholic priest is expected to be present to pray for the convicts as the principal accused, Yen, is a Catholic.

Decision in the case was pronounced yesterday afternoon by the Court Martial in Lunghwa according to which both the accused were sentenced to death. A brief resume of the decision is as follows:

"The accused Yen Jui-seng and Woo Tseng-fong, whose commission of highway robbery and murder has been duly confessed, are hereby sentenced to death and shall be shot according to the procedure of Court Martial. The third accused, Fong Jeh-sin, shall, when arrested, have a separate trial and be dealt with according to law. Chu Sze-chia, the suspect, is declared not guilty."

Both accused were found guilty in the Mixed Court and were ordered to be handed over to the Arsenal authorities for capital punishment. The first accused admitted that he applied choloroform to the girl after luring her to Warren Road in a motor car borrowed from Chu Sze-chia, who is the son of Chu Pao-san, former chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce.

(French Wireless Service)

Brussels, Nov. 20.—M. Carton de Wiart has formed his cabinet as follows: Premier and Minister of the Interior, M. Carton de Wiart; Minister of Justice, M. Vandervelde; Minister for Foreign Affairs, M. Jaspar; Minister of Finance, M. Rhounis; Minister of National Defence, M. Maurice Lippens.

Pictures Used To Aid Indian Voters

(Reuter's Service)

Bombay, November 18.—The first elections under the new Reforms Act were held on November 16 when thirteen candidates contested six seats on the Legislative Council.

A novel means to enable illiterates to record votes was adopted, each candidate taking a representative to sign such marks as a cow, lion or sword to indicate his identity.

There is little public interest being evinced in the elections, the results of which have not yet been announced.

BOULON'S TRIAL PROBABLY WILL START THIS WEEK

Mr. Ferdinand G. Boulon, former manager of the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, will be tried in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier on two of the original ten counts charging embezzlement that were made against him as the outcome of the recent hearing before U. S. Commissioner F. J. Schuhl. Formal information based on these two counts was filed yesterday by Maj. C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney, and the arraignment will take place tomorrow.

When the preliminary hearing of the case was held before the Commissioner three of the original counts were eliminated and the accused was held on the seven remaining, bond being fixed in the sum of Tls. 10,000.

It is on two of these seven counts that Mr. Boulon will go to trial in the United States Court for China, as the informations filed by the Government yesterday cover only these two.

The two specific charges made are that Mr. Boulon embezzled the sum of Tls. 12,250.54 on June 25 last and the sum of Tls. 1,333.71 on June 28 while employed as manager of the company's Shanghai branch. Mr. William H. Swift, Vice President of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, signed the affidavits attached to the two informations on behalf of the firm.

When the arraignment takes place tomorrow it is accepted that formal pleas of not guilty will be entered by the accused after which the time of the trial will be fixed. As the Court's docket is fairly well cleared it is probable that the trial will be started this week.

President Wilson May Get Nobel Prize

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Washington, November 20.—It is reported that President Wilson may receive the Nobel Peace Prize for 1920.

The President is now able to walk about the White House without the aid of a cane, and he uses his wheel chair only for the purpose of occasional relaxation. Officials at the White House state that his health was improved sufficiently to permit of his addressing Congress in person next month, but President Wilson has not yet made any definite plans.

OUTBREAK IN DUBLIN TAKES ON ASPECT OF ACTUAL WAR

Epidemic Of Murder And Assassination Sweeps Entire Community

MANY ARE KILLED

Asquith In Bitter Attack On Government For Stand In Erin

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Dublin, November 21.—The city of Dublin is a scene of far-spread murders and reprisals. Never since the outbreak of civil warfare have assassinations been so concerted and retaliations so swift. It was reported that at least fourteen were dead and six wounded as a result of simultaneous attacks at nine o'clock this morning. All the victims were officers, former officers, and government servants.

Bands of from six to eight visited the various houses, called the victims out or entered and shot them in bed, while dressing, or at breakfast.

FIRE ON THRONG

At a football match this afternoon at Croke Park 16 lorries filled with auxiliary police moved up and swiftly surrounded the park. Accounts differ concerning what happened.

After mounting machine-guns the police broke through the gates. It is reported that they first fired into the air and then into the crowd. A report from another source is that Sinn Fein pickets fired first on the police inside the park.

MANY KILLED

Fifteen thousand spectators were thrown into panic and a number were trampled to death. The number of dead is not yet known. It is estimated, however, that it will be from ten to over thirty.

According to an official report the auxiliary police intended to make a search of the crowd as it was known that many women connected with the morning massacre were present.

A later report from Dublin said that the shooting began in the streets just before midnight and was marked by considerable military activity. An estimate of the casualties as a result of the outbreak in Croke park places the number of killed at ten and the number injured sixty-five, eleven seriously.

GOVERNMENT ALARMED

London, November 22.—A note issued from the Irish office reports wholesale killing of officers and former officers as a result of the drastic campaign against the Sinn Feiners.

Most of those killed had served as court martial officers or were connected with the administrative offices. The gravest apprehension is felt by the Government over what may happen in the next few hours. All precautions have been taken to meet expected reprisals against the police and military.

A correspondent of the London Mail reports that fire broke out in Dublin tonight. It is understood that arrangements are to pour more troops into Ireland and the fear is held that the epidemic of assassination may spread to England.

PRIEST'S BODY FOUND

Galway, Ireland, Nov. 22.—The body of Father Griffin, who was kidnapped last week, was found Saturday in a shallow grave four miles from here, with a bullet wound in his temple.

ATTACKS REPRISALS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 19.—Mr. Asquith, in a speech at the National Liberal Club, delivered a very trenchant attack on the Government in connection with the reprisals in Ireland. He said the soldiers and Constabulary in Ireland had been placed in a false position, because they were regarded not as guardians of order, but as agents of repression.

He declared that Ireland during the past six months had been in a state of civil war. Justice had been replaced by a policy of blind, pitiless, indiscriminate revenge. Recent reports did not justify the assertion of the authorities that things were better.

It was impossible to believe in these official assurances. Cold-blooded, deliberate murder had been traced to uniformed servants of the Crown.

Mr. Asquith maintained that the things done in Ireland by the authority and incitement of the executive were equal to the blackest annals of the lowest despotism of the European world. He would not rest until he had explained to the people of Great Britain what dishonor was being done in their name.

In conclusion, he urged as a motto, through the whole of their political activities, the words of John Bright: "Be just and fear not!"

SERIOUS CHARGE

London, November 18.—In the House of Commons today, Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, read out a remarkable letter which, he said, had been found among papers belonging to the Chief of Staff of the Irish Republican Army.

The letter dealt with the possibility of spreading typhoid among the troops by infected milk, as to which expert opinion was necessary in order to see if it could be done, and also of spreading glanders among the horses, which could best be done by tampering with their oats.

Mr. Devlin and Mr. McVeagh both Nationalists, were highly indignant at the reading of this letter, declaring that "the whole thing was a sheer invention, concocted in Dublin Castle," to which the Minister replied by saying that the document was captured during a raid.

PREMIER IS HEARD

London, November 18.—Asked in the Home of Commons today whether he had refused to receive a deputation from the Irish Peace Conference which was appointed in response to his invitation, the Prime Minister said he did not think that at the present time any advantage was to be gained by receiving this deputation, as he was not at all sure that the conference had discovered the moderate opinion of Ireland, in accordance with his request to the first deputation. The first step to peace must be the cessation of the attempt to overthrow the reign of law by murder and assassination, and the breaking up of the "murder gang."

Constantine To Be Opposed By Powers If He Wins At Polls

to the people of Greece. A number of his Ministers, following his example, have left the country.

There was a pro-Constantine demonstration here today. The numbers taking part in the demonstration was not large, and it was obviously organised with a view to creating an impression, with motor cars, carriages and large portraits of the ex-King and flags.

There was a certain amount of random shooting, but no attempt was made to maintain order. The armed police on duty joined the demonstrators and sang the Constantine national anthem.

RIOT IN NEW YORK

(U. S. Naval Radio)

New York, Nov. 21.—A special service to celebrate the fall of Premier E. Venizelos and the anticipated return of King Constantine to the Greek throne was held in the Greek Orthodox Church of Evangelinism here today and resulted in a riotous scene, when the supporters of Venizelos rose and cheered the name of the fallen premier. The leader of the offenders was set upon by the crowd and his life only saved by the intervention of the police.

It is estimated that 4,000 attended the service which was largely a Nationalists and Royalists demonstration.

The Greek community of the United States evinced a tremendous interest in the recent elections; the newspapers were flooded with inquiries made by telegraph, telephone and callers who demanded the latest returns.

GOVERNMENT SILENT

The United States government has shown little interest, so far, regarding the question of the Greek succession, and according to official expressions that were receives from Washington it seems to be the general feeling that if the people of Greece despire the return of King Constantine that they should have him.

A despatch received here from the Athens correspondent of the Associated Press states that the Greek Cabinet intends to continue the foreign policy that was outlined by Venizelos.

Sunday Concert

Scores of people found only standing room at the Town Hall for the first concert of the Municipal orchestra on Sunday afternoon, and as many more were waiting to get in the doors at the interval.

All departments of the orchestra are playing to an increasingly high standard of performance this season. The quality of the strings is still the outstanding excellence; but hitherto shortages of players in the wind and brass departments have hindered Mr. Paci from attaining the level to which he steadily works with a certainty and enthusiasm that are unmistakeable. On Sunday this weakness was far less apparent; tone and tuning were alike good, and at most times the wind and brass were really fine.

The "Flying Dutchman" Overture was excellently drilled as to execution, and dramatically interpreted. Three Grieg string pieces led up to the piece de resistance; Elgar's "Enigma" Variations. This work represents for once British art which needs neither praise nor apology when played side by side with the work of great Continental composers.

After three variations church-goers were compelled to leave. Almost everyone else stayed to the end. Schumann's Quintet closed the concert, with Mr. Paci at the piano, and the solo string-players drawn from the orchestra. Unfortunately the pleasure of hearing this popular work played by them had to be foregone.

Somebody to do with the Council seems to have decided that those who enjoy good music either cannot be or should not be church-goers. Have congregations acquired a reputation for taste that ill assorts with first-class art? That would be a hard saying; for church standards could not but be improved by contact with artistic excellence. No really good music is entirely secular—and, one may add, there is scarcely anything that seems so irredeemable (artistically) as the so-called "sacred concert." Now that the time of 5 o'clock has been started it should not lightly be changed this season. Shifting of days and times by way of experiment will only earn for the concerts a reputation for being erratic, but sooner or later the Council should take account of the considerable number of people who attend various religious services on Sunday, almost if not all at 6 o'clock.

CIVIL GOVERNOR OF HUPEH WILL TAKE HIS POST

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, November 22.—In spite of the opposition of Tuchun Wang Chuan-yuan against his appointment, Mr. Hsia Sho-kang, the newly appointed Civil Governor of Hupeh, arrived here from Peking this morning to assume his office.

A large crowd of members of the gentry and representatives of the local organisations were present at the railway station to greet him.

ARMENIANS OFFER DEFIANCE TO TURKS

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—It is reported from Tiflis that, owing to Kemal Pasha's Government presenting an ultimatum imposing crushing conditions, the Armenians have decided to resume hostilities, and the armistice of November 12 is now ended. The Armenians declare themselves determined to fight to the end.

Borel Describes Visit To China

(French Wireless Service)

Paris, November 18.—Professor Borel, a member of the recent French mission to China, contributes an article to the Excelsior, in which he dwells upon the most cordial reception given to the mission everywhere in China, and the results already obtained, such as the establishment in Paris of a new Institute for Chinese studies, and of a Franco-Chinese Economic Association.

Professor Borel insists upon the immense possibilities of modern China, whose progress in the fields of industry and commerce promise, in his opinion, to surpass in the course of the present century even those of the United States in the nineteenth century.

Ruling Is Made On Anti-Oriental Order

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 18.—The Times Vancouver correspondent telegraphs that the Provincial Court of Appeals has declared ultra vires the legislation enacted by the British Columbia Government in 1902 forbidding the employment of Japanese or Chinese in any contracts or concessions from the Government. This law was recently enforced by a District Forester and an appeal was immediately made by Japanese interests as the legislation was held to conflict with the Anglo-Japanese Treaty of 1912.

TO SHOOT ROBBER

Waung Tuh-kwen, found guilty of participating in recent armed robberies on Penang Road, was turned over to the Arsenal authorities to be shot by order of the Mixed Court yesterday. The case was prosecuted by Detective Sergeant R. W. Yorke. Accused stated that he was formerly a soldier, having been captured last July and interned in Fokien and afterwards being sent to Canton and then to Shanghai.

Imperial Peace Cabinet To Be Meeting Outcome

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, November 18.—It is emphasised from official sources that statements which have appeared, indicating that the meeting of the Premiers of the British Dominions next year will mark the beginning of a definite system of Empire Government in time of peace by an Imperial Peace Cabinet, go far beyond the terms of the announcements made by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons.

The fact is that the meeting will be on the lines of the Imperial War Cabinet meetings of 1917 and 1918. The Premier stated at the time that he hoped these meetings would become an accepted convention of the British constitution. The result of these meetings was not to establish a common executive for the Empire, or in any way to affect the executive authority of each Government in the Empire, or its responsibility to its own Parliament. They were held with the object of arriving at a common policy on matters of urgency and importance to all by frank and intimate discussions.

The forthcoming meeting of Premiers will be of the same character.

AUSTRALIA IS TOLD EXCHANGE IMPERILS TRADE

British Industrial Leaders Address Letter To Andrew Fisher

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—The Federation of British Industries has addressed a letter to Mr. Andrew Fisher, High Commissioner for Australia, regarding the serious position of the exchange between London and Australia, which is seriously endangering trade between Great Britain and Australia. The letter declares that the Australian exchange banks, not possessing the necessary resources, are at present unable to purchase documentary bills on Australia.

Hitherto, it explains, the British Government was the sole purchaser of staple Australian exports and the sums disbursed on account of these purchases were made available to the exchange banks through the Government of the Commonwealth. The cessation of purchases has radically altered the situation, and hence forward money expended in Great Britain on the purchase of Australian products will become available in the ordinary course of commerce for financing the export of British goods to Australia. Such finance will not be available until the maturity of drafts upon London in respect of free shipments of Australian products, and consequently for three or four months the Australian banks will have no funds to finance export trade from Great Britain.

The letter therefore suggests as a remedy that the Commonwealth remove its embargo on the export of gold from Australia to Great Britain and place at the disposal of the Australian banks in London the considerable sums which the Commonwealth has at its disposal in Great Britain and which it is at present withholding from its normal function of financing trade.

U.S. REFUSES TO FOLLOW BRITAIN IN RUSS POLICY

Government Takes Stand That Bolshevism Is World Menace

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 19.—It is stated that the United States will not follow the lead of Great Britain should she recognise the Soviet Government, even if only to the extent of trading with the latter. American officials explain that the United States Government believes that Bolshevism is a menace to the stability of the world, and that the Russians themselves are being held in subjection against their will by the Bolsheviki.

London, November 19.—The Prime Minister's announcement as regards the impending resumption of trade with Russia has been received with mingled feelings. The conclusion of an agreement in this connection is looked upon as inevitably leading to the political recognition which the Soviet Government so ardently seeks, and against which feeling is still strong. Apart, however, from the general objection to entering into any relations with the Bolshevist regime, there is a disposition to suspend judgment on trading arrangements until the terms are published.

LOANS AFFECTED

There is a widespread feeling that the sine qua non of any agreement is that Russia should realise her liability to the loans raised in Great Britain and France prior to the war, amounting to £500,000,000 and £1,000,000,000 respectively, for municipal, national and railway purposes, and this independent of the £500,000,000 lent by Britain to Russia for war-material, as regards which expectations of recovery are not sanguine.

The general impression is that the new agreement will provide a system of credits, in order to facilitate the export of goods to Russia, and to secure supplies.

As regards goods from Russia, despite the alluring reports of accumulated stocks awaiting export, there is much doubt expressed that anything of a substantial character exists beyond large holdings of gold, all of which have been stolen, and some of them adulterated.

PREPARING DRAFT

London, November 18.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Lloyd George stated that the Cabinet had decided to approve a draft agreement providing for the carrying out of the arrangements made in July in regard to resuming trade with Russia. This draft would be ready for submission to the Soviet Government in a few days' time. The agreement would, however, not be entered into until the Soviet had carried out its undertaking concerning the liberation of prisoners.

URGA'S FALL IS FEARED BY CHEN

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—In connection with the political situation in Urga, the Central Government has received news from General Chen Yi, High Garrison Commissioner of Mongolia, to the effect that the Russian force has again assembled near the Mongolian Capital, that additional recruits have strengthened the enemy force, and that the various rescuing troops have not all arrived at their destination.

In the circumstances, General Chen Yi asserted that he can see the fall of Urga, if the reinforcements promised him do not turn up in time. General Feng Yu-hsiang, Commander of the 16th Mixed Brigade, formerly offered his troops to the Government for active service.

The Central Government is reminded of this fact by General Chen Yi who requested that orders be issued to General Feng Yu-hsiang directing him to proceed with great expediency to relieve the situation in Urga. Unless the request in question be complied with at an early date, General Chen stated the Russian force who received backing from Mongolian bad characters cannot be repulsed by the local militia in Urga.

JAPANESE IN AID OF RUSSIAN LEADER, REPORT

General Sun Lieh-chen Says Semenoff Received Help From Nipponese

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—General Sun Lieh-chen, Military Governor of Heilungkiang, telegraphed to report on the collusion between the Japanese troops and General Semenoff. The Bolsheviks who have defeated General Semenoff were later repelled by the latter with the moral support of the Japanese force.

Fighting actually took place between the two hostile forces on the 11th and 12th instant with the result that the Bolsheviks were utterly defeated at Ma Ti Chan Tsu and at Lai Ma Cheh. In the circumstances, it is suggested that the Central Government issue orders to General Sun Lieh-chen to despatch adequate reinforcements to strengthen the position in Hai Lai Erh as well as to maintain the defense work at Cha Men. This is essential in view of the sensational but apparently reliable rumor that General Semenoff may have entertained the idea of leaguing together with the Mongolian bad characters to thwart Chinese authority in that part of the country. It is learned that orders have been issued by the Central Government to General Sun Lieh-chen directing that one Mixed Brigade should be sent to Hai Lai Erh and the Mixed Regiment should be despatched to Cha Men, with a view to intercepting the advance of the forces under the command of General Semenoff who attempted to communicate with Chita via Urga.

Mutineers At Ho Chien Demand Heavy Ransom For Captive

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, November 19.—The recent mutiny which took place in Ho Chien was among forces under the command of General Li Kwei-yuan and Colonel Wei Ching-ho. The riotous soldiers did great mischief and harm to the property of the late ex-President Gen. Feng Kuo-chang. The eldest son of the late President was detained by the mutinous troops who demanded a large ransom. Although the mutiny was confined to the city of Ho Chien much alarm was excited elsewhere. The eldest son of the late President has demanded reparation from the Central Government.

A rather sensational report has been received to the effect that the troops under the command of General Wu Pei-fu mutinied in Hsuchow in the night of the 11th instant. This mutiny was again in connection with the non-payment by the Central Government of military charges due to the rebellious troops.

According to the rumor the Bank of China in Hsuchow was ransacked and many other local firms suffered the same fate. Eighty or ninety thousand dollars were seized from the banks and some $100,000 were taken away from the local firms. The authorities of the 8th Mixed Brigade issued proclamations to the effect that the sacking was done by bandits who were under pursuit by the government troops. Another report states that the riotous troops belonged to the 3rd Division.

Timely Suggestions On Interior Decoration—

It's Well To Have Your Floors Varnished With

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS MAR-NOT

Because during the coming winter, there will be chances of water, heat, or steam affecting it.

You can't always cover up a damaged place with a rug or article of furniture, and it's best to use a varnish that is water-proof, heat-proof and steam-proof.

Brighten Up Your Home With

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS FLOORLAC
The All Round Varnish Stain

Are there worn places on your Woodwork? and scratches on your furniture?

Brighten them up with Floor-Lac and recover the brightness of your home.

By using Floor-Lac you can have any of the popular wood finishes, light or dark oak, cherry, mahagony, walnut, etc. Floor-Lac produces a bright surface that stands the wear for a long time.

Will the heat from a grate fire or radiator blister your furniture and woodwork?

If you had that trouble last winter, avoid it this winter by varnishing them with

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS SCAR-NOT

Good for furniture, doors, window trims, and all interior woodwork. Heat will not blister it; scalding water will not affect it. The surface can be cleaned with a damp cloth.

SUGGESTIONS ON RUSS PROBLEMS MADE BY ENVOYS

Diplomatic Corps Desires Russians Be Administered By Municipal Councils

MEASURES PROVISIONAL

Foreign Commissioners Should Conduct Legal Affairs With Russ Advisors

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 20.—The Diplomatic Corps replying on October 18 to the Chinese Government's Note of October 22, takes note of the latter's declaration that all the measures taken regarding Russian subjects in China are merely provisional, and that all changes in the status of Russians and Russian interests in China will be discussed with a future recognised Russian Government; Russians will continue to enjoy the rights guaranteed to them by treaties, and that there will be no change in the administration of Russian concessions.

MAKE SUGGESTIONS

It goes on to point out that hitherto these undertakings do not appear to have been executed, and, seeing that the status of Russians involves other foreign interests, the Diplomatic Corps considers it necessary, in the interests of other foreigners, to suggest:

(1) That the police in the Russian concessions be under the control of the local municipal councils, and that the latter adhere to the old regulations.

(2) That as regards jurisidction, where possible, the old Russian courts their organisation and personnel should be maintained, such courts acting in the name of China, but administering Russian law in accordance with the Mandate of August 5, 1918. These courts should try inter-Russian and Russo-foreign cases, while the mixed courts should deal with Sino-Russian cases wherein Russians are defendants, while the local Chinese courts should deal with Sino-Russian cases where Chinese are defendants.

PROVISIONAL MEASURES

It is pointed out that these measures should be purely provisional, and without establishing any precedent.

(3) The Corps suggested that in centers where many Russians reside, the administration of Russians and the conduct of Russian legal affairs should be carried out by the Chinese Commissioner, with the assistance of Russian advisers.

In order to secure proper coordination, there should be a special Russian bureau attached to the Waichiaopu, with a high Chinese at the head, and Russian advisers, while in order to work out details, a Sino-Russian Commission should be appointed, its Russian members not representing any institution of a political character. The nomination of Russian advisers should be in agreement with the Corps.

The Note concluded by remarking that several months had elapsed without any definite modus vivendi. The Corps then hoped for an early reply.

Immigration Of Indians To Colonies Question In House

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 19.—The question of the immigration of Indians into Crown Colonies and protectorates was raised in the House of Commons this evening by a question from Mr. Bennet, Sevenoaks, with regard to the recent visit of Sir Benjamin Robertson to the Kenya Colony in Uganda to inquire into the position of the Indians there.

Mr. E. S. Montagu, Secretary of State for India, replied that he had received the Indian Government's views on Sir Benjamin Robertson's report and that Mr. Lord Milner and he were giving their urgent attention to the matter. Mr. Joynson-Hicks suggested that a doctrine of self-determination should be applied to Crown Colonies with regard to the influx of Indians where they were not wanted.

Mr. Montagu, in replying, emphasised the fact that the views of the Indian as well as the British and native inhabitants of the colonies ought to be taken into account.

FERRIER AGAIN WINS GOLF TITLE, EASILY DEFEATING COL. R. MARR JOHNSON, 9 UP

Defeated Man Has Consistent Bad Luck With Putter And Fails To Justify Confidence Of His Admirers—Winner Plays Consistent Game; Soon Clinches The Crown

By "Mid-Iron"

The championship of the Shanghai Golf Club, which means the championship of Shanghai and all of this part of China, was won at the Kiangwan course on Sunday by Mr. J. B. Ferrier.

In previous matches Mr. Ferrier bowled over numerous contestants that stood between him and a third conquest of the trophy, and on Sunday he completed the job by defeating Col. R. Marr Johnson by the rather one sided margin of 9 up and 7 to play.

In achieving this feat Mr. Ferrier turned in two very good cards, a 78 in the morning and a 76 in the afternoon, the bye holes included. His opponent required 85 in the morning and 82 in the afternoon.

In winning the championship for the third time Mr. Ferrier demonstrated that he has the edge on all local golfers, for his victories in all the championship matches were won "under wraps" as it were, the doughty Scot finding but little difficulty in disposing of his opponents. In only one match, that against Mr. Cumming, was he forced to extend himself.

AN ENVIABLE RECORD

Mr. Ferrier has an enviable record in Far Eastern golf. In addition to winning the local championship three times, he left his mark in Australia during the years he was "down under." In that country he twice won the championship of his club and was runner up on a third occasion, losing out in the final to a player who afterwards won the amateur championship of the continent. He also carried through to the semi-final in the New South Wales championship.

Mr. Ferrier's golf is distinguished by its accuracy and steadiness, rather than by characteristics that could be described as spectacular. His driving, while not as long as that of some of those who competed against him in the championship, is invariably straight, and with a dry course such as Kiangwan in its present condition his drives generally carry far enough to give him easy seconds with his irons.

EASY FOR FERRIER

That is, easy for him. Getting up to the green and getting down after he gets there is where Mr. Ferrier is especially strong. As a rule he reaches the green with his iron shots, and also as a rule he places his ball sufficiently close to the pin to preclude the necessity of those long approach putts which play such havoc with the average golfer.

Very frequently Mr. Ferrier is close enough to the pin to try for the hole, instead of the theoretical wash fub which most players, remembering the admonitions of their professional, are forced to shoot at.

Mr. Ferrier figures, apparently, that a stroke saved on the green is as good or better than one made from the tee. It certainly is just as efficient from a statistical point of view and has the advantage of being more disconcerting to an opponent.

STEADINESS IS FORTE

Steadiness, therefore, is Mr. Ferrier's forte, and any golfer will tell you that if he could have his choice of all golfing gifts he would choose steadiness above all others. It is the constant trips to the rough and the everlasting sloshing around in bunkers and traps that makes the average golfer wish, frequently, that he had never seen a golf course or owned a golf club.

Bad putting was the chief weakness of Col. Marr-Johnson in Sunday's match; and it was due to the fact that his putter behaved so wretchedly that he was so decisively defeated. His faulty work with the putter began at the second hole in the morning round, where he took three to get down after reaching the green in three. Mr. Ferrier was down in the regulation two putts.

The next hole was won by Col. Marr-Johnson, thanks to an erring tee shop by his opponent. This squared the match. On the next hole Col. Marr-Johnson made a beautiful recovery from the rough, and at the same time laid his opponent a stymie which he was unable to negotiate.

THE LAST HOLE

Col. Marr-Johnson annexed the hole and became one up. Mr. Ferrier cut down this advantage at the next hole, however, and from then on he was never headed. Col. Marr-Johnson's driving was fairly good and his approaching was even better, as a rule, than that of his opponent; but on the green he was off his game, with the result that Mr. Ferrier added constantly to his lead.

The morning round ended with Mr. Ferrier 6 up; and this advantage proved too much of a handicap for the Colonel, putting as he was, to overcome. In the morning round alone he threw away no less than nine strokes on the greens; and this, in competition against a player of Mr. Ferrier's skill, is a luxury that very few golfers can afford.

THE SAME OLD STORY

In the afternoon it was much the same story, with Col. Marr-Johnson struggling against the antics of his unruly putter, and with no more success than distinguished his morning efforts. It soon became a foregone conclusion that Mr. Ferrier would win the match hands down, and this, of course, robbed the contest of much of its interest.

It was unfortunate for Col. Marr-Johnson that his putter had to choose such an important occasion to go on a rampage, for if he had been sinking them as he ordinarily does the championship final would have been a thriller. The Colonel's style is not as graceful and easy as Mr. Ferrier's but he gets tremendous results with his woods, and in pitching he has no superior in Shanghai.

At the conclusion of the match the championship cup was presented to Mr. Ferrier by the club president, and Captain MacDonald commended the players for their excellent work. The cards, with some approximations, are:

"Y" TOSSERS PREPARE FOR BUSY SEASON

A meeting of the Shanghai "Y" basketball players was held recently in the "Y". Thirty were present. After a brief announcement made by Mr. C. G. Hoh, physical director, regarding the general scheme of the season's work, an election took place.

T. T. Zee, an ex-student of Shanghai College, was elected chairman of the league while Mr. C. L. Tu was chosen secretary and Messrs. Z. M. Wong, Tom Chang and Z. M. Woo members of the general committee.

Yesterday another session was called and some regulations and a definite schedule were arranged. Four teams were divided, with the following players as captains: M. T. Liu of "Y" team; S. T. Chen of "M"; V. W. Wong of "C"; and Tom Chang of "A" team.

Two practice games will be staged on Thursday, beginning at 8:00 p.m., "Y" team vs. "M" team and "C" vs. "A" team.

The best players among the four teams will form the regular Shanghai "Y" team. Several old stars are in the teams.

BRITISH GOLF ON THE MEND, SAYS MITCHELL

Prominent "Pro" Reviews Mid-Surrey Tourney With Satisfaction

BY ABE MITCHELL

Naturally I was most interested in my own matches at Mid-Surrey. But, surveying the play as a whole, I think the outstanding lesson afforded was the extraordinary improvement that has taken place in the general level of professional golf since the war, as compared with last year.

My friend George Duncan, who is one of the keenest and most observant critics of golf of this or any other time, ventured the opinion twelve months ago that the golf then was two strokes a round worse than in the old days. This view was borne out at St. Andrews, when Duncan and I tied for first place, with an aggregate of 212 strokes for four rounds in the unofficial championship meeting in 1919.

This score was thirteen strokes worse than that achieved when Braid won the championship on the same links, under very similar conditions, some years earlier.

DUNCAN WAS RIGHT

Duncan was accused of overestimating the setback occasioned by lack of competitive practice during the war; but his discerning estimate was fully borne out by play in other competitions which were played in the same year.

Then we had merely a sequence of unconnected shots. Now we have knitted them together through the development of concentration, and are able to keep up a high average standard.

It was just as though a billiard professional degenerated for a time into the amateur system of single-stroke play, instead of looking ahead to each ensuing stroke in comprehensive strategy.

I tremble to advance the opinion that British golf is two strokes better now than it ever was before. Whether this view is seriously challenged or not, I do stubbornly maintain that, at no time in the history of the game, have there been so many players capable of achieving the highest standard of play.

Mid-Surrey may not afford the best possible test of first-class play. To that extent it favored the younger school, who are not called upon to play a great number of exhibition matches, and therefore have not the same experience of playing under widely varying conditions obtained by the men who have "arrived."

ASSISTS NEW TALENT

I think this was all to the good. For, looking at the matter from its widest aspect, the main object of competitions of the kind played at Mid-Surrey is to discover new genius.

Certainly the "News of the World Competition," which is the

Hongkong Bewails Fact That Cricketers Did Not Win 1920 Tri-Port Crown

Rejoices, However, In Three-Way Draw As Satisfying Largest Number Of Devotees—"Googly" Describes Feature Performances Of Various Participants

By "Googly"

(South China Morning Post)

We proceed with the post-mortem. The deceased is not really deceased, but in a state of suspended animation. He has no evidence to offer as to why Hongkong did not carry him off, and we must leave him lie for another year. The verdict must be "natural causes."

To come back to earth, the interport cricket tournament has finished indecisively. Euclid having been proved a duffer, we presume each team still possesses one flag, but not the same it brought with it. Each has scolped and been scolped.

Frankly we thought Hongkong would win, particularly as reports from Straits and Shanghai told us of so many stalwarts left at home.

And Hongkong should have won on their showing against Shanghai and against the combined team.

One opinion is that we lost to the Straits on our fielding, but I am content to call it the fortune of cricket.

THE GREATEST RESULT

There is a temptation to indulge in criticisms of players and selection committee; but it is not hard to resist, and after all a draw is the only result that secures the greatest pleasure for the greatest number.

We have to thank the visitors and our own men for a good week's sport. We shall see them again next year, we hope, or at least the Shaighai lot.

Hongkong scored the most runs; helped, however, by the fact that the visitors' runs in the last match have to be divided up and also by Shanghai's single innings against the Straits.

SHANGHAI'S BEST

Shanghai has the best innings total, 324 against Straits, and Straits the worst, 68 against Shanghai.

Of the individual figures, Pearce's two centuries, 122 against Shanghai and 111 not out against the Visitors, stand out, helping him to the premier run-getting position.

Next is Leach of Shanghai, whose 85 against Straits and 94 against Hongkong were other outstanding efforts of the week. Wainwright's 80 was another.

HENNESSY'S BOWLING

Of the bowlers, two change trundlers get the best average, but there is more pleasure in contemplating the figures from Hennessy to Bird.

These include most of the working bowlers, those who had the heavy work to do.

Hennessy's figures are remarkable. His maidens resemble a batting score. Like Bird he has a long and wonderful interport record, and his many friends will wish him many more triumphs.

Davies of Hongkong bowled most overs, and gave most runs, although they work out at only three runs per over. Riches and Bird have even better over averages. Bird 7 for 42 against Shanghai, Davies 6 for 30 against Straits, Sayer 3 for 17 against Straits, Allison 4 for 25 against Straits, Leach 5 for 31 against Straits, Hennessy 4 for 24 against Hongkong and Caryll 2 for 4 against Shanghai were some of the bowling feats.

MANY DISAPPOINTMENTS

The week was full of disappointments, among those who did not make good being Claxton (batting), Cobb, Grenier, Turner, Bagnall (batting), and others.

Claxton founds runs unusually elusive, and Cobb could do little with the ball, so that Hongkong lost nothing from the opposition of its two former players. Claxton did well behind the wickets, and Bagnall's fielding excused a lot.

HONGKONG MAN DEFEATS TANAKA ON THE COURTS

Interport Series Likely Won By Crown Colony As Result Of Match

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Nov. 22.—A further lawn tennis match in the series between teams representing Shanghai and Hongkong was played today, when Ng Sze-kwong (Hongkong) beat J. Tanaka (Shanghai), 7-9, 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

Shanghai devotees of the court and racket are awaiting with a more or less degree of breathlessness the reports from Hongkong anent the final matches in the interport series between the Crown Colony and the International Settlement.

Mr. W. S. A. Pott, who returned to Shanghai on the Empress of Asia on Sunday, stated that, at the time of his departure from Hongkong, the matches were "even up." Those which remained to be played were a singles match between J. Tanaka of Shanghai and Ng Sze-kwong, the Hongkong champion; and a doubles match between Messrs. Tanaka and Carnavarro (representing Shanghai) and Messrs. Ng and W. A. Socke (representing Hongkong).

Mr. Pott had no excuses to offer for his defeats at the hands of Mr. Ng and Mr. M. W. Lo (the Hongkong runner-up) further than to state that his injured knee bothered him consistently throughout the series. He expressed the opinion that the tennis tourney, like the cricket, was likely to result in a draw.

Just before leaving Hongkong, where the Shanghai men had a splendid time throughout, Mr. Pott lost his match to Mr. Ng, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3, while Mr. Tanaka disposed of Mr. Lo in a spectacular match, 10-8, 0-6 6-4, 6-4.

At that time each of the two teams had won three matches and eleven sets, the game score being Hongkong 108, Shanghai 98.

HARVARD VANQUISHES YALE; OHIO BEST IN MIDDLE WEST; CALIFORNIA BEATS STANFORD

Three Field Goals Scored By Crimson Eleven Against Disheartened "Blues"—Sailors Win From Fuh-tan Second—"Pubs" Defeat Nanyang By One Goal

(U. S. Naval Radio)

New Haven, November 20.—In the presence of a record-breaking throng of 80,000 spectators, assembled in the Yale Bowl this afternoon, the football team representing Old Eli bowed before the crimson-clad gridiron warriors of Harvard, the score at the end of four gruelling quarters reading 9-0 in favor of the Cambridge warriors.

Chicago, November 20.—Ohio State's all-powerful football eleven, by winning five Western Conference games and losing none, has again clinched the Conference championship crown.

San Francisco, November 20.—California today overwhelmed Stanford on the football field, winning their annual fixture by the decisive score of 38-0. By virtue of a clean score of victories for the season California thus wins the Pacific Coast championship.

New York, November 20.—Columbia's highly-touted football team crumpled today under the attack of the University of Pennsylvania eleven and succumbed, 27 to 7.

Harvard, undefeated throughout the season, entered the big football arena full of confidence. Yale, the memory of a 20-0 defeat by Princeton rankling in its breast, was nervous and unsteady.

Harvard's scores all came as the result of field goals—two from the educated toe of Quarterback Buell, a 1920 development, and one from Captain "Dick" Horween, mainstay of the team during this and past seasons.

The game was bitterly contested throughout, although the Yale team was outclassed and had little save the undying New Haven spirit with which to oppose the invincible crew from Cambridge.

"PUBS" DEFEAT NANYANG

The Shanghai Public School eleven journeyed to Nanyang on Sunday to play the college 2nd XI. A clean fast game—which is, we are glad to say, the usual thing between these college teams—was the result.

It was more one-sided than usual, as the Public School team combined in a way which some of the Senior League teams might well copy, and naturally reaped a good harvest; in this case a 4-1 victory.

Nanyang did their best but were really outplayed and only managed to get through once in the second half.

BAPTISTS OFF TO NANKING

The Shanghai Baptist College is having a busy time this week. Losing 2 points to Soochow in the 20 minutes extension last Saturday, they are off to Nanking to try and make them up there tomorrow. They send two elevens to Nanking to play the following matches.

Thursday—1 p.m. Shanghai College Middle School v. Nanking University Middle School. 3 p.m. Shanghai College 1st XI. v. Nanking University 1st XI. (E.C.I. A.A.).

Then, on Saturday next, they meet the Nanking Teacher's College. The Middle School teams playing at 1 p.m. and the first elevens at 3 p.m., another E.C.I. A.A. fixture.

SAILORS BEAT FUH-TAN

The Fuh-tan University second eleven tangled on Sunday afternoon with a team from H.M.S. Kinsha, the result of which was a win for the sailors by one goal to nil.

This was a closely-contested and highly exciting contest, the one score coming from a miskick by the Tuh-tan fullback which the sailors promptly converted into a goal.

Mr. Yuan, physical director at the University, refereed the contest.

Kobe April 8
Shanghai April 11
Manila April 19
Hongkong April 25
Shanghai April 28
Kobe April 30
Yokohama May 3
Honolulu May 12
Arrive San Francisco May 17.

Nineteen of the liners are nearing completion and all have been allotted to the Pacific service. They are to be magnificent ships embodying every possible facility for the comfort of passengers. All berths on the steamers are fore and aft and not athwartships as has been published in a local shipping publication.

SAILORS ATTEND DINNER-MUSICALE AT NAVY Y.M.C.A.

The first "At Home" dinner and entertainment of the season for the sailors was held at the Navy "Y" under the auspices of the social welfare department of the American Womans Club Saturday. The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. James MacDonell and Mrs. R. E. Lunkley.

Following the dinner-musicale numbers were rendered by Miss Sophia Finkelstein, piano solo, Dr. and Mrs. V. E. Scott, Saxaphone duet, accompanied by Mr. K. H. Woods on the piano and Mrs. Hoorin and Miss Finkelstein, piano duet.

A number of sailors from the U. S. Gunboats New Orleans, Elcano and Villalobos attended the entertainment which concluded with games.

This affair will be followed by others each month and similar to those of last year which were so successfully arranged by the American Woman's Club. This organisation is planning special entertainment for the sailors on the evening of Thanksgiving Day at the Navy "Y" building.

Foreign Office In Tokio In Statement About Consortium

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 20.—The Foreign Office has issued a communique similar in form to one which is published simultaneously today in Japan, Great Britain, the United States and France.

In this the Japanese Government states that it is gratified to learn that the provisional agreement concluded among the representatives of British, French, American and Japanese banking syndicates in Paris in May of last year, for the formation of a new loan Consortium for the purpose of assisting China, has now been ratified by the banking syndicates of the four countries concerned.

The Consortium is fully recognised by the four Governments. It has been organised to enable China to raise the funds necessary for the construction of improved means of communication and transport as public loans with the Chinese Government or properly accredited provincial representatives, under the belief that such loans will best promote China's interests, thus aiding China's efforts to attain unification and stability, and coincidentally giving equal opportunity to the individual enterprises of all nationals, while extending the sphere of their economic activity in China.

It is believed that such co-operation will facilitate a mutual understanding regarding Oriental questions among the five countries concerned.

CHRISTMAS MAIL HEAVY THIS YEAR

Shanghai's contribution of Christmas mail to homes back in America this year runs to upwards 1,000 sacks, which marks a considerable increase over the holiday consignments of former years.

Records at the American Post Office show that with one more ship to leave with Christmas mail the total taken away by the last three vessels to sail from this port recently is 797 sacks. This went on the Empress of Japan, which sailed November 12, the Empress of Asia, which sailed Saturday, and the steamer Nile, which sailed yesterday. The Shinyo Maru will sail next Friday and as it is due to arrive in San Francisco by way of Japan and Honolulu on December 20 the mail it carries will arrive in time for delivery before Christmas in the Western states.

Mail to go on the Shinyo Maru will be received at the American Post Office up to 1 o'clock Friday afternoon for parcel post and registered matter and up to 2 o'clock for ordinary mail.

Two Men Charged As Accomplices In Specie Robbery

Four Under Arrest In Connection With Bold Daylight Hold-Up

Two Chinese appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday in connection with the daylight robbery of last Saturday afternoon when three armed men descended from a motor car on Connaught Road and looted a wheelbarrow of a box containing $4,200—half of a consignment of specie being moved from the Da Fah Bank, Tientsin Road, by a shroff of the Sing Fong Silk Filature.

The men were charged with aiding and abetting the robbers. They are the chauffeur of the car and a cook. Detective Sergeant R. W. Yorke, when the robbery was reported and the number of the car given, went immediately to the public garage from which the machine had been taken on Foochow Road, arriving there before it had returned. When it came in the chauffeur was questioned. He took the police to No. 604, Avenue Joffre, the home of Mr. Garner, where, he said, the money had been taken into the servants' quarters. A search of these quarters revealed a lot of wrapping paper, lined with the brown paper in which it is customary for coins to be rolled. In the cook's bed $20 were found. The chauffeur had 400 ten-cent pieces, which he said were given him to pay for the use of the car.

A coolie and a houseboy were also arrested and are being held by the French Police. The case was remanded by the Court yesterday and warrants were ordered to issue for the two men being held by the French police. The Settlement police have information regarding the identity of one of the robbers and other arrests are expected.

BRITAIN MAKING TRADE RECOVERY

Ground Lost During War Is Being Regained In Dominions' Fields

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 19.—Great Britain is rapidly making up the ground she lost during the war in supplying goods to the markets of the British Dominions. Such was the gist of an interesting speech delivered in Bedfordshire yesterday by Mr. F. G. Kellaway, of the Ministry of Supply.

He showed that, whereas 33 percent of the total British exports went to the Dominions in 1913, this had fallen to 22½ percent last year. There had been a considerable improvement, however, to 30.6 in the first six months of the present year.

The United States and Japan had been the countries which principally benefited from the lost trade. The former, for instance, only sold 9.5 of the total imports into South Africa in 1913, whereas the percentage was over 24 last year.

Similarly the respective percentages of imports from the United States into Australia, India and New Zealand in 1913 and 1919 are: Australia, 1913, 12.7, 1919, 28.7; India, 1913, 2.6, 1919, 12.2; New Zealand, 1913, 9.5, 1919, 24.7.

Mr. Kellaway contended that Great Britain ought not to rest satisfied until she had secured the hold on the Dominions markets that she possessed before the war. In order to achieve this, Mr. Kellaway urged that the present hindrances to production must be disposed of. Manufacturers must get rid of the "variation clause," which excluded firm prices and a definite date of delivery. He had received official advices from all parts of the world that this factor was hampering British trade more than anything else. The continued existence of this clause, he remarked, was principally due to the uncertainty of the labor position.

British Golf On The Mend, Says Mitchell

only event of its kind during the season—the professionals usually have to go out with a card and pencil—did not fail in this particular, on the present occasion.

Ockenden's performance in the tournament has already had adequate justice done to it by many writers. Some people have made the mistake of regarding him as a new discovery. He did not distinguish himself in the championship meeting at Deal this year. He was off his game, and never got the touch of his clubs.

But he was marked out as a coming man even before the war, and, though he has not the length of some of the great hitters, he reminds me just a little of James Braid. His holing out on the greens, too, is extraordinarily good, and though his style does not please the eye to the same extent, he is almost as successful in this respect as that wonderful little golfer, Tom Ball, whom he succeeded at Raines Park.

It was my fortune to come up in the tournament not only against Ockenden, but against P. Allis, who took me to the twenty-first green before I had the good fortune to survive the third round.

New Forces from Old Sources

Fire and water are the sources of energy which have raised civilization out of barbarism and savagery.

For generations man used them clumsily through machinery that was expensive to operate, limited in capacity and extremely local in application. Today we are entering upon a new age of greater achievement because we have learned to translate natural resources into a more efficient, economical and convenient form of energy—Electricity.

For Electricity can be generated at a low cost, transported to greater distances, transformed at will into light, heat and power.

Herein is one of the great contributions to civilization of the Westinghouse organization in that it did not confine its activities to the designing of apparatus for the use of electricity alone. It went back of the current to the primal source—that power might be more widely distributed.

Westinghouse Electric was the first to turn the power of Niagara Falls to man's advantage. Westinghouse turbine-generators in Central Stations and Power Plants utilize steam more economically and turn it into the alternating form of current which, largely through Westinghouse engineers, has made possible the wide distribution of light, heat and power.

ECONOMIC PROBLEM

Geneva, November 20.—At the opening of this morning's session of the Assembly of the League of Nations, M. Lafontaine (Belgium) drew attention to two matters which he considered of particular importance:

(1), the economic problem and (2), the question of armaments.

On the first subject, M. Lafontaine dealt with the question of distribution of raw material, which he was of opinion ought to be at the disposal of all nations, without exception. On the second, M. Lafontaine urged that the armies of the future should only be the elements of an international force, at the service of the League of Nations.

Geneva, Nov. 20, (via Bordeaux and Koukaza).—The following communique has been issued of today's proceedings of the Assembly of the League of Nations:

The Assembly today continued and concluded its discussion of the report of the Council.

M. Lafontaine (Belgium) called for a solution of the "capital problem" of the equitable distribution of raw materials as between nations. He urged a reduction of national armies which, he declared, should simply furnish the elements of an international force.

BOLIVAR'S PLAN

Senor Rodriguez (Venezuela) declared that the idea of a League of Nations had inspired Bolivar at the Panama Congress of 1826 and the policy of Venezuela since 1914. Venezuela, he said, desired to see the League made democratic, on the basis of equality of States.

Mr. Newton W. Rowell (Canada) stated that the New World considered the first object of the League to be to prevent war. All the great nations ought to enter the League as soon as they could, said Mr. Rowell. The New World considered that the League's secondary role under article 23 should not induce "meddling" in the internal affairs of States.

Mr. Rowell opposed the proposal for a solution of the problem of raw materials by the League. He urged that the nations should send to the Council responsible representatives, capable of securing the execution of the Council's decisions.

Signor Tittoni (Italy) replied, as a member of the Council, to the criticisms of the preceding speakers.

On the question of publicity, he recalled the fact that the Council debated in public session, after a private exchange of views. The question of the League's finances, he said, appertained to the League's Assembly. The Council was not responsible for the situation in Armenia. The members of the Council did not represent their respective countries but acted as "magistrates to ensure justice.

SUPPORTS TITTONI

Senhor da Cunha (Brazil) said he supported Signor Tittoni.

Signor Tittoni went on to criticise what he described as Mr. Rowell's "uncompromising attitude" on economic questions on which the future and the peace of the world depended. The League of Nations became impossible, he said, if certain countries refused discussion and opposed the conciliation of national interests. Commercial protection paved the way to economic war, to be followed by real war.

Signor Tittoni, in conclusion, said he hoped that adhesion of the United States to the League would be made possible, by discussion of the declarations of President-elect Harding, and by reciprocal goodwill.

Spain, thirteen South American States, Denmark, the British Empire, Switzerland and Belgium proposed that Spanish should be accepted as an official language of the League, like French and English. It was decided that a Commission should examine the proposal which France announced she would support.

Washington, Nov. 17.—It is officially reported from Lima that Dr. Cornejo, head of the Peruvian delegation to the General Assembly of the League of Nations, has been dismissed because of his criticism of the attitude of President-elect Harding towards the League.

WILSON'S MESSAGE

Geneva, Nov. 20, (via Bordeaux and Koukaza).—The following communique has been issued of yesterday's proceedings of the League of Nations Assembly:

M. Hymans, President of the Assembly, read President Wilson's reply to the Assembly's message conveying the President's personal good wishes and expressing: "The hope and certitude that the work of the Assembly will assure indestructible benefits to the whole civilised world."

Mr. George Barnes (British Empire) congratulated the Council of the League on the "breadth of mind and greatness of of heart" with which it had dealt with the problems of a world enfeebled by war. Mr. Barnes declared trat the repatriation of prisoners of war was enough in itself alone to justify the League's existence. He supported the compaign against typhus and urged the Assembly to save Armenia, the Assembly's offer of the mandate for which, he pointed out, had not been accepted by any Power.

AID FOR WORKERS

Mr. Barnes congratulated the League firstly on its international labor organistation to improve the lot of the worker and maintain industrial peace, and secondly on its intervention in the international conflicts between the Soviet and Persia, Poland and Lithuania, and in the Aland Islands question. He also called for the League's intervention between Poland and the Soviets in order to establish real peace.

On the question of admission of ex-enemy States to the League, Mr. Barnes said that British workers desired their admission. He pointed out that Germany was already taking part in the international organisation of labor and had been invited to the Brussels Financial Conference. The British workers remembered the responsibility of the German Government and people in 1914, Mr. Barnes proceeded:

"The German people must within the limits of human possibilities, make good the damages caused to Belgium and France and in a less degree to other countries. The Allied Powers were responsible for the execution of the Treaty but the League of Nations was responsible for the peace and prosperity of the world.

FINANCIAL STABILITY

"Financial stability, commercial freedom and co-operation for the largest possible production are essential to international reconstruction," concluded Mr. Barnes. "The world must not be divided into opposite camps. We can create now an atmosphere permitting full and universal collaboration for the future."

MM. Zahle (Denmark, Karnebeek (Holland), and Motta (Switzerland) also spoke.

The sessions of the Commissions began yesterday. The Armaments Commission decided to hold a public session on Saturday.

Geneva, Nov. 21, (via Bordeaux and Koukaza).—The following official communique has been issued here:

The Armaments Commission of the League of Nations Assembly held a public session today, M. Branting presiding. M. Lange (Norway) and Dr. Wellintgon Koo (China) stated their views on disarmament.

STUDY ARMAMENT

M. Lange proposed the appointment jointly by the Council and Assembly of a new commission to study the armament question in liaison with the permanent Military, Naval and Air Commission already existing.

Dr. Wellington Koo pointed out the difficulties of the armament problem and particularly the influence on armament questions of such factors as geographical position, construction of railway systems, etc.

Senhor da Cunha (Brazil) submitted a resolution prohibiting all private armament industry.

The Commission on Admission of New Members to the League held its first meeting under the presidency of Senor Hunneus (Chile). After a general discussion in which Dr. Nansen (Norway), Mr. H. A. Fisher (England), M. Viviani (France), M. Polites (Greece) and Lord Robert Cecil (South Africa) took part, three sub-commissions were appointed to consider the applications of, (1) the Baltic States of Luxembourg, (2) Austria, Bulgaria, Lichtenstein and Albania, and (3) the States formerly part of the Turkish Empire, and Costa Rica. The terms of reference include recognition of the New States by the other Governments, stability of the respective Governments, definite demarcation of frontiers, freedom of the respective Governments from international engagements, and their observance of the League's Armament regulations.

DOMINIONS PLEASED

Geneva, November 18.—The opinion among the various representatives of the British Overseas Dominions attending the Assembly of the League of Nations is that on the whole the work of that body is going on well.

The Canadians consider the start made as very encouraging, as they had not thought it possible that the preliminary difficulties could be disposed of so quickly. They consider that the very good spirit shown is a good augury for the future. Moreover, the system of organisation and procedure adopted seems to them very practical.

The Indian delegates also regard the progress made as satisfactory. The point of the greatest interest hitherto is that British India and the Dominions, as individual members of the League of Nations, do not act necessarily together, but exercise complete freedom to act and vote in accordance with their own views. The individual character of each British State is specially emphasised.

REAL WORK BEGINS

The South Africans consider that things will now move, as the composition of the committees has been settled, and real work will begin. South Africa has naturally a special interest in the mandates, and is keenly concerned in the welfare of the League. It is determined to do all in its power to see that the League has a fair trial to become a living organisation.

The general impression of the New Zealand representatives is that, considering all the difficulties, the Assembly had done fairly well. There are numbers of language difficulties in the Assembly, but these are being got over reasonably well, and machinery has been started which ought to result in good work. It is hoped that there will be no delay.

The delegates are afraid that the committees are rather unduly large, and that this may hamper the discussions. That there is every reason for optimism for the future of the League is shown by Dr. Nansen's report on what can be done. As regards wars still going on, the League is not yet in a position to assert its full authority. It has economical pressure, arbitration, international courts of justice and publicity, all of which, it is pointed out, make a great impression.

USE OF FORCE

The New Zealand delegates further remark that one means—that of the use of force by the League—is set forth in the Covenant, but does not appear on the agenda. This is perhaps, they said, one of the most difficult problems.

The Australians feel that, although full allowance must be made for the necessary shaking-down process common to all assemblages, and intensified in this case by the language difficulty, there is matter for disappointment, inasmuch as the Assembly is dealing with generalities and platitudes rather than coming into actual contact with the problems that are awaiting solution.

None of the really big problems have, they say, yet been approached, and the references to them have been entirely vague and general. It is hoped, however, that, now that the different sections are at work and the tasks of the committees allotted, matters will now improve.

MAKING PROGRESS

New York, November 20.—A despatch which the New York Tribune has received from its correspondent at Geneva states that there are many indications there that some of the governments which were formerly sceptical regarding the conference of the League of Nations have been impressed by what has already been accomplished. Commenting on the wide publicity which the proceedings of the Assembly are receiving, in Europe and the two Americas, it asserts that no gathering since the Peace Conference has attracted such world-wide attention.

It is apparent, says the Tribune's correspondent, that the present gathering furnishes an opportunity for exchange of views on international questions of profound importance, though they are not necessarily on the agenda of the Assembly. The gathering of so many foreign ministers and diplomatic representatives of the first rank is without precedent, and important decisions are bound to be reached.

SECRET SESSION

The South American delegates are working together and conferring on subjects which are not immediately related to the business before the League. The Chilians are holding preliminary discussions of the appeals which have been made to the League by Peru and Bolivia for reconsideration of their treaties with Chihli. Both of these appeals are to come before the commission of which Mr. Branting is chairman. When that body reports to the Assembly the public will learn what degree of success can be reached by a secret session wherein sit the representatives of forty-two states.

The conference is rapidly warming to its work, and the influence of Lord Robert Cecil's speech, urging boldness and justice, is apparent. The delegates are now acquainted with each other, and the stiffness which marked the early proceedings is gradually disappearing.

JAPAN'S VIEWS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, November 22.—The special correspondent of the Mainichi telegraphing from Geneva on November 20, gives an interesting summary of the first week's work of the Assembly of the League of Nations from the Japanese point of view.

After remarking that no special development is to be expected at present, as the League's machinery works slowly, though surely, the correspondent says:

"The presence of so many world-famous personages whose names I had only heard or read, sitting on the same floor of this world parliament, makes an impressive scene.

"This fact alone is enough to bring home to one that what has hitherto been the mere dream of idealists has been turned into reality."

The correspondent points out that throughout the first six days' public session of the Assembly, the Japanese delegation remained completely silent except for a single occasion on which Baron Hayashi spoke a few words. One journalist present, the correspondent says, compared the Japanese to so many statues of Buddha.

FIRST WORD OF GERMANY

Describing the scene when Mr. George Barnes, representing British Labor, urged Germany's admission to the League, the correspondent says:

"This was actually the first word spoken about Germany. Lord Robert Cecil and a few others clapped: the French made wry faces. The Japanese, who, even as a general rule, do not clap, naturally did not clap."

Again, the plea by Mr. Newton Rowell (Canada) at Saturday morning's session in favor of the admission of all States to the League, in which he was supported by Signor Tittoni (Italy), was greeted by "a majority of claps; the French looked uneasy."

When M. Lafontaine (Belgium) brought up the subject of disarmament, "he touched the assembly's a quick, and the scene at once became interesting."

The correspondent supplies a picturesque touch when he notes that Dr. Wellington Koo brought his newly-wedded wife with him to the public session of the Armaments Commission on Saturday. Madame Koo, it appears, was "ornamented with a lot of diamonds."

Be A Cut-Up To Please Wife, 'Love Doctor' Advises

W. L. George, the English author and feminist, in an interview in Washington, tells how it is "men make a mess of marriage." He advises men not to be too truthful if they want marriage to be a success and also to "cut up" a little bit to amuse friend wife. Mr. George said the dullness of married life is the chief cause of many failures. He blames the men only, saying the women have done their part. The photo shows Mr. and Mrs. George.

LEAGUE ELECTS WELLINGTON KOO TO NEW OFFICE

According to a Peking telegram, Dr. Wellington Koo, one of the two Chinese delegates to the League of Nations now in session in Geneva, was elected on November 18 vice-president of the commission on general procedure amendments to the League of Nations Covenants and the election of non-permanent members to the League Council.

Dr. Koo received 24 votes out of a possibility of 35. Among the "big four," Great Britain, France and Italy backed him while Viscount Ishii, the Japanese nominee, received two votes.

The president-elect, Mr. Arthur Balfour, is not attending the session, so Dr. Koo will act in his place for the present.

The other Chinese delegate is General Tang Chai-fou.

CHINA DUE TODAY WITH MAIL FROM SAN FRANCISCO

Bringing 91 first class passengers for Shanghai, 268 bars of silver and a heavy mail, the China Mail Steamship Company liner China will arrive today at 8 o'clock at the China Merchants Central Wharf.

There are 452 bags of mail for the United States post office 352 bags for the Chinese post office, four for the British post office, three for the French and one for the Japanese. The China will arrive a day earlier than scheduled.

The steamer Nile of the China Mail Steamship Company sailed from Woosung at 5 o'clock this morning. The last tender for the Nile left Shanghai at 5 o'clock last night.

An unexpected heavy consignment of mail amounting in all to some 300 sacks arrived yesterday afternoon and was distributed in boxes by the staff at the American Post Office. The consignment was trans-shipped as it was brought in on three vessels from Japan, the Persia Maru, the Fushimi Maru and the Talthybius.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given your physician know of what to your children unless you or it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results." W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments." F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home." WM. J. McCRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, who e the maker alone knows what stuff is put in there, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine." N. B. SIZER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron

—the Red Blood Food that helps give Strength and Energy?

Are you worried, weak, nervous and constantly tired out? Are you totally unable to enjoy your home and social life and unfit to meet each day's work with the force and energy that lead to success?

If you are in this condition, take a short course of Nuxated Iron and note its strength-giving, upbuilding effect. You will be astonished at the results, for Nuxated Iron increases the energy and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

"You're terribly run-down, John—weak, nervous and constantly out-of-sorts. You ought to try Nuxated Iron to build up your strength and vitality—and help get back the power and energy that win."

THOUSANDS of people are held back in life through lack of sufficient iron in the blood. Iron deficiency, the widespread ailment among American men and women of today, is doubly alarming because so many folks who are weak, nervous and run-down are suffering from this condition and little suspect the real and true cause of their trouble.

Iron is absolutely essential to enable the blood to transform the food you eat into muscular, nerve and brain tissue. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life's sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles and to withstand severe strains. Lack of sufficient iron has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

Success and the full enjoyment of home and social life depend so greatly upon health that you cannot afford to be without the strength, endurance, steady nerves and forceful energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood. A weak body means a weakened brain; weak nerve force means weakened will power and, like the sprinter beaten by a length, many a capable man or woman fails just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which go along with rich, red, healthy blood—full of iron. That irritable twitch, that fit of despondency, that dizzy fearful feeling—these are the alert of signals Nature gives to tired, listless folks when the blood is clamoring for strength-giving iron—more iron to restore the health by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells.

Therefore, you fellows who lack that robust vigor, who are nervous, weak and run-down and who feel the need of a strength and blood builder—get a prescription from your physician for organic iron, Nuxated Iron, or if you don't want to go to that trouble, then secure Nuxated Iron from your druggist only in its original package. Be sure that this name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken other iron products and failed to get results, remember that such preparations are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron, the extraordinary merit of which is attested by the fact that it is used by more than three million people annually.

Not only is Nuxated Iron extremely beneficial for weak, run-down men, but also for women who are careworn, tired out and nerve-racked through lack of iron in the blood. Many a woman who is pale and haggard, with nerves on edge and little energy or strength to meet the day's tasks is simply suffering from iron deficiency and does not realize it. For such women, who would have the rosy cheeks of health and the endurance and vitality so necessary to well-being, Nuxated Iron may be a veritable boon, as it will increase their energy and power in a surprisingly short time, in many instances and make them look years younger.

Many men and women foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, when as a fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living tissue. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong but they can't tell what. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. Numbers of run-down, nervous people who were ailing all the time have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking Nuxated Iron—and this, in some cases, after they had been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists. Beauty's Question Box

IS there anything that will remove the odor from the breath after eating raw onions?—A. B.

No one is really fit for civilized society for twenty-four hours after eating raw onions, but if you feel you must inflict your presence on other people before the expiration of that period, try chewing a leaf of parsley or drinking a glass of milk. Either of these simple correctives will go far to neutralize that unpleasant odor.

I'D like a remedy for freckles and large pores in the skin.—B. E.

A very simple way to remove freckles is to use every day a combination of milk and salt in the proportion of one tablespoonful of salt to one glass of milk. Allow the liquid to dry on, and afterward brush off the salt crystals that adhere to the skin. Plain camphor water which has very powerful astringent qualities will soon decrease the size of those large pores if regularly used.

WILL you kindly tell me what to do for a red nose?—MRS. C.

The following formula is said to be remarkably efficacious in overcoming this unsightly blemish:

Rosewater	3 ounces
Glycerine	2 ounces
Muriate of ammonia	1 dram
Tannic acid	½ dram

Saturate a piece of absorbent cotton with a little of this lotion and bind on the nose every night until that excessive redness is relieved.

I AM quite plump and well formed except for my throat and chest, which are painfully thin. Please give me a good cream to fill out these parts.—G. E. B.

Here is an excellent cream for feeding the skin and underlying tissues:

Lanolin	2½ ounces
Spermaceti	¼ ounce
Mutton tallow (freshly tried)	2½ ounces
Cocoanut oil	2 ounces
Oil of sweet almonds	2 ounces
Tincture of benzoin	½ dram
Extract of Portugal	2 ounces
Oil of neroli	10 drops

I HAVE a very rough, sallow skin. Kindly tell me of a soap and massage cream I could use which would improve my poor complexion.—B. L.

Try using a pure castile soap. It may have the effect of roughening the skin at first, but keep up the treatment for awhile and I am sure your skin will become quite fine and smooth in texture. But be sure you get an absolutely pure soap. Below is given a massage cream which you can apply every night before retiring:

Oil of sweet almonds	20 grams
Lanoline	30 grams
Tannin	½ gram

Save Your Orange Peels

DON'T throw away the peels of oranges, urges a writer in American Cookery; there are many good uses to which they can be put with very little trouble.

They can be used for marmalade, by shredding into very fine strips, and following the recipe for any orange marmalade, substituting one apple for the pulp of each orange called for in the recipe. Care should be taken to remove every particle of the thin membrane which holds the sections of orange together and the pulp to the skin, for this gives a disagreeable flavor to the marmalade.

Another way to use the peelings is to put them through the food chopper—always removing the membranes—and place the fine-chopped peels in jars, in alternate layers, with granulated sugar. The layers should be well pressed together or weighted.

After a few days a thick, golden syrup will collect at the bottom of the jars, and this is exceedingly delicious to flavor puddings, icings, cake fillings, or a dozen other dishes.

To dry the peelings and grate the yellow outside; to cut them while fresh in strips and candy them; to chop and make confections mixed with nuts; these and many other ways of using them will suggest themselves. But by all means avoid throwing them away.

Love, Courtship and Marriage Problems

Solved by Leonore Carfax.

MY husband has just received the offer of a position many miles from here. He says his whole future will be crippled if he does not go. My mother and father live here and I feel I cannot tear myself away. Can you advise me?—MRS. A. C.

There can be no doubt that it is your duty to go with your husband. I believe the law states that the right of domicile belongs to the husband. But all legal consideration aside, no wife can afford to hang her personal feelings like a millstone about her husband's neck.

MY husband spends all of his leisure time reading. I do not like to read, but am very fond of attending theatres and moving pictures. He urges me to go with a young man, his cousin, who likes these things as much as I do, but I fear I am becoming too much interested in this cousin. What would you advise me to do?—ROSE.

You had better discontinue going out with his cousin at once. Don't you think you ought to try to cultivate a little interest in reading yourself? You are missing far more than your husband is when he refuses to go to theatres. This would create an interest between you, and no doubt your husband would meet you half way and would endeavor to enter into your especial form of entertainment also.

I AM using every means in my power to save and get ahead, but as soon as we accumulate a little in the bank my husband takes it out and buys some stock on which he has gotten a "tip" and invariably loses it all. Can you suggest a remedy?—A. E. W.

Very few people are so situated financially that they can afford to buy stocks on tips. Can't you induce your husband to establish a joint bank account from which he can withdraw only on your signature? Or if not, can't you arrange to start a private account of your own?

I MARRIED my husband because I thought the man I loved was untrue to me. I now feel I was mistaken. He urges me to explain these circumstances to my husband and ask him to set me free. Do you think I would be justified in doing this?—MAY C.

Two wrongs can hardly make a right. You have tangled things up so badly by your false step that some one has to suffer, and if you have any nobility in your nature you will see that the heaviest suffering falls on your own head. If your husband is half-way satisfied with the poor substitute you have to offer him you should bend every effort to return his love and to shut your first lover out of your life.

I AM twenty-three years old. I have been engaged to a young man for five years and we were to have been married in September. He was one of the first to be drafted and has been in training camp for some months. He expects to be sent to France very soon and he insists that I marry him before he leaves. It seems to me it would be much better to wait until his return. I love him very dearly, but not to the extent of being left a widow with all my years before me, or of finding myself tied to a crippled disabled soldier for the rest of my life. Do you think I am selfish in taking this stand?—ELSIE.

Of course you are acting selfishly, for you are thinking only of your own welfare. Marriage in your mind is evidently taking a husband only "for better" not "for worse." If you really loved him, surely you would gladly shoulder your share of the heavy sacrifice that is demanded of him. If he is going out to fight, it is to place himself between the enemy and you. This war means as much to you as it does to him. How, then, can you refuse to bear your share of the risk and the danger and do all in your power to send him forth to battle with a light heart?

Fish Salad Recipes

By Mary Lee Swann,

The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Scallop Salad.

LET scallops stand in cold salted water and then cook them gently in boiling water about 5 minutes. Drain, cool, slice and sprinkle with well-seasoned French dressing. Chill, drain, add an equal amount of finely sliced celery and moisten with mayonnaise. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Tuna Fish Salad.

WASH 6 large sweet peppers. Cut off the blossom ends and remove seeds and veins. Place in cold salted water and let stand about one hour. Then drain and fill with 1¾ cups flaked cooked tuna fish which has been seasoned with cooked dressing. Place on bed of heart lettuce.

Salt Codfish Salad.

SOAK 1 pound codfish overnight in cold water. Flake carefully with a fork and cook slowly about ½ hour. Set aside to cool. Then add 1 cup finely shredded celery, ½ cup thinly sliced stuffed olives, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, dash of paprika, 3 tablespoons vegetable oil and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Toss well together. Set in ice box for an hour or more. Then mix with a little boiled dressing. Arrange on heart lettuce leaves and garnish with sliced tomatoes.

Halibut Salad.

SPRINKLE 1 cup finely shredded lettuce or celery with well-seasoned French dressing. Add 3 cups boiled and flaked halibut. Moisten with cooked salad dressing and mix well. Arrange in centre of platter, surround with crisp cress and garnish with sliced tomatoes or radish roses. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons finely chopped green peppers.

Shrimp and Asparagus Salad.

CUT 2 dozen asparagus tips into short pieces and cook them until tender. Measure them and add an equal amount of cooked and sliced shrimps. Mix well with mayonnaise dressing, well seasoned with French mustard and capers, and serve on a bed of heart lettuce leaves. Garnish with 4 or 5 thin slices of lemon.

Baked Bluefish Salad.

REMOVE skin and bones of baked bluefish. Separate fish into flakes. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and a little lemon juice. Allow about 3 tablespoons lemon juice to 2 or 3 cups flakes. Chill and arrange on bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Pour boiled salad dressing over the salad and garnish with finely chopped gherkins and pickled beets.

The Oven's Temperature

AS every housewife knows, the success of her cooking depends to a large degree on having the oven at just the right temperature. According to a writer in American Cookery, the proper heat for various kinds of food is as follows:

Bread, 350 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit; muffins, biscuits and rolls, 425 to 450 degrees; cookies, 400 to 425 degrees; angel cake, 300 to 350 degrees; sponge cake, 350 to 375 degrees; layer cakes, 400 to 415 degrees; loaf cakes, 325 to 375 degrees, and pastry, 450 to 475 degrees.

Note, however, that the temperatures given are those taken from the centre of the oven, and that the oven clock in the door of the oven will register from ten to twenty degrees less. This should always be allowed for.

Note, further, that the larger the loaf or cake, the lower the temperature should be. This applies to several loaves of bread baked in one pan, which may be regarded as one large loaf. Also, the more sugar, molasses or other sweetening in the mixture, the lower the temperature should be, to avoid burning.

A lukewarm temperature is one very little over blood heat, perhaps from 100 to 110 degrees Fahrenheit.

SHU SHIPPED TO TIENTSIN IN BOX

Anfuite Smuggled Out By Collusion Of Japanese Is Peking Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 21.—The Wei Yi Pao furnishes a fresh explanation of Little Hsu's escape. It states that Hsu was placed in a box marked "Military Baggage," and taken by train to Tientsin, where he was immediately placed on board a Japanese steamer. When the steamer sailed, adds this journal, Mr. Obata reported the escape. The paper further asserts that Hsu has already arrived in Japan.

Peking, Nov. 22.—The reply of the Waichiaopu to the Japanese Minister regarding the escape of Little Hsu was only handed to the Legation late on Saturday night, after minor alterations, which added considerable force to the demands.

NOTE IS QUOTED

The reply draws attention to the Japanese Note of August 9, in reply to which the Chinese Government stated that an application would be made later for the extradition of the Anfu refugees, and it therefore looked to the Japanese Legation not to allow them to escape. The Legation however, it is said, failed to exercise proper surveillance, and this resulted in Little Hsu's escape.

The Government therefore hopes that an expression of regret will be offered by the Legation, and it is asked that the officers and men of the Legation Guard should be punished for neglect of duty.

JAPAN RESPONSIBLE

In the event of Little Hsu engaging in political activities in the Japanese sphere of influence in China or abroad, it is held that the Japanese Government should be held responsible. The Note further urges that, in view of the apparent inability of the Japanese Legation Guard to maintain efficient control, the remaining eight refugees should be handed over, and concludes by stating that a similar Note is being handed to the Japanese Government by the Chinese Charge d'Affairs in Tokio.

Foreigner Injured In Riding Accident

Mr. H. M. Prior, living at the Burlington Hotel, was severely cut and bruised and his pony was killed in a riding accident which occurred Sunday afternoon on the Rubicon Road.

With a companion Mr. Prior was cantering along the Rubicon Road near Hungjao Road when they met a handcart proceeding in the same direction. The riders swung out to allow passage but the coolie swerved the cart in the wrong direction, one of the shafts of the vehicle plunging into the pony's chest and the rider being violently thrown. The coolie was slightly injured.

Mr. Prior was given first aid by Dr. Davis who was at the Golf Club and was able to return home.

GENERAL MOTORS LAUNCHES AGENCY

Branch Opened At Manila To Serve Distributors—Agent Visits Shanghai

Enlarged service to distributors who handle the many makes of American automobiles of the General Motors Corporation is the aim of the company in establishing for the first time an agency that is to operate throughout the Far East, including Japan. The new project of the company is being carried out by Mr. Bruce J. Miles of New York, who is leaving this morning for Peking after a visit to Shanghai to continue the survey of conditions that he has been making.

The new Far Eastern agency of the General Motors Corporation, which has been established at Manila, is now in operation. Mr. Miles, who is to manage the central agency at Manila, said yesterday it is not to have anything to do with direct distribution of cars as the selling of the various cars of the company will be left wholly in the hands of the agencies that have heretofore sold products of the General Motors Corporation. The new enterprise of the company, he said, has been launched solely with the purpose of giving aid to these distributors in various ways through the work of traveling field representatives.

Among the cars handled by the General Motors Corporation are the Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland, Oldsmobile, Scripps Booth, the G. M. C. truck and the Sampson tractor.

Society Favorite Wins Divorce And Yearly Income Of $62,000

Mrs. Jeannie Emmet French, well known in society, who has obtained a decree of divorce from William Barton French, society and clubman of New York, Boston and Newport. Under the divorce settlement she will receive $62,000 a year. Mr. French, in a statement, said it was a question of too many 'in-laws' who stepped between their happiness. They were married in 1916 and have a three-year-old daughter.

Piece Goods Strike Averted For Present

Some Foreign Firms Aid Dealers By Allowing Better Exchange Rate

The Chinese piece goods shop strike, which was scheduled to go into effect yesterday morning did not take place, largely as the result of an offer by certain foreign firms to allow dealers to settle the exchange for their orders at seven shillings instead of paying the present rate of five shillings.

When this offer was made a number of shop representatives met and decided to refrain from closing their businesses until their present stock is sold. They will take delivery of all orders which could be settled at the seven shilling rate, but will not buy any more at the market rate of exchange it is said.

Decree Is Granted In Leach Action

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 18.—The Divorce Court has granted a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights to the wife of Colonel Henry Edmund Leach, formerly of Penang. Col. Leach was in command of the 1st South Wales Borderers, and was awarded the C.M.G. for his services in the great war.

Students On Strike Because Of Hazing Rule Of Faculty

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 17.—Refusing to accept a compromise offered by the Governors in regard to "hazing" the students of St. John's College, Annapolis, Maryland, walked out in a body. A later message reports that the Board of Visitors has sent an ultimatum to the strikers, threatening them with dismissal, including the holders of scholarships, unless they return by Monday next. Some of the students have already returned.

RICE UP A DOLLAR

Rice is again beginning to creep up in price. The figure quoted yesterday was $9.70 for the best quality, about a dollar higher than the quotation last Monday.

The recent strike of the delivery coolies and the acitivity of smugglers are responsible of the rise, according to rice merchants.

Sir David Prain, Director of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew; Sir Herbert Read, Assistant-Secretary to the Colonial Office; and Sir Stewart Stockman, Chief Veterinary Officer of the Board of Agriculture; to consider and report upon what steps can be taken to secure the assistance of the universities in Great Britain in carrying out the research work which is essential to the protection of the inhabitants of the Colonies and Protectorates from disease, and to the successful development of their veterinary, agricultural and mineral resources.

Scandal Results From Arrest Of Socialist Deputy

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Nov. 19.—The Commission which has been inquiring into the incidents arising out of the arrest of Signor Busco, a Socialist Deputy, at Bologna, at whose house arms were found, has presented a report which affords a piquant revelation.

It states that when Busco recently visited Trieste, he was accompanied by a young woman, whom he introduced everywhere as a Hungarian Communist who had been persecuted by Admiral Horthy. Consequently, the Socialists of Trieste welcomed her with fetes and presents, whereas she was really an Italian and Busco's mistress.

The report adds that Busco's conduct has demonstrated his evident unfitness for the work entrusted him by a popular organisation.

OAK FLOORING AND PANELLING

Stand The Hard Test Of Time

When installing any other wood than Oak for flooring or panelling, one item must be taken into consideration in counting the cost, and that is the fact that in a very few years the floor will have to be renewed. With Oak, however, at the end of a quarter of a century, the flooring and panelling is not only more pleasing to the eye than when new, but is also worth a great deal more.

WE SUPPLY OAK FOR FLOORIG, W AISCOTING, PANELLING, ETC., ETC., KILN-DRIED AND QUALITY GUARANTEED

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing and we prefer to do this for you.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

Steamship

„SIMBIRSK."

THE Board of Directors of the Russian Volunteer Fleet hereby states that the steamship "SIMBIRSK" which left the Harbour of Nagasaki on November 1st has been seized by her dismissed master, P. Milovzoroff, and placed by him with Nicholas Fedoroff, formerly the Agent at Tsuruga.

The authentic ship's documents of the "SIMBIRSK" in possession of the Russian Volunteer Fleet Head Office, namely, the Certificate of Nationality and the Certificate of Tonnage and Registry, delivered by the competent authorities of the former Russian Imperial Government, all dated Vladivostok March 24th, 1911, were not in the hands of Milovzoroff at the time he perpetrated the seizure of the steamer, and are held by the Vladivostok Department of Trade of the Far Eastern Russian Provisional Government.

Under such circumstances the Board of Directors announces:

(1) That in view of the fact that the original effective documents of s.s. "SIMBIRSK" are in existence, and not lost, any copies of these documents substituted elsewhere abroad are null and void as being fixed for the purpose of providing illegitimate protection to persons who are fraudulently in possession of the s.s. "SIMBIRSK."

(2) That the Harbour and Customs Authorities of all ports at which the s.s. "SIMBIRSK" may call are hereby warned that the navigation and trade of s.s. "SIMBIRSK" without proper registry documents is illegal and

(3) That the Russian Volunteer Fleet will not be responsible for the transactions entered into in their name by the master of the s.s. "SIMBIRSK," N. Fedoroff, or other persons.

The attention of Insurance Companies, Shippers, Contractors and Passengers is expressly drawn to the above warning, as the obligations of any master of the s.s. "SIMBIRSK" to any party are not binding, while adequate steps will be taken by the competent Russian Volunteer Fleet administration without delay to make the position of the s.s. "SIMBIRSK" regular.

Cercle Sportif Francais

Le Comite du Cercle Sportif Francais vu le nombre sans cesse croissant de ses Membres, en attendant la construction du nouveau Cercle; se voit obligé de réserver le thé dansant du Dimanche après midi a ses seuls membres.

En conséquence a partir d'aujourd'hui et jusqu'à nouvel ordre le Comité prie Mrs. les Membres de vouloir bien observer cette décision et de ne plus faire d'invitations à des personnes étrangères au Cercle.

The Committee of the C.S.F., in view of the increasing number of Members, and while awaiting the building of the new Club, find themselves obliged to reserve the Sunday Thé-Dansants, beginning with Sunday, the 28th, for Members only.

Consequently the Committee earnestly request Members to give no invitations for Sundays to persons who are not members of the Club.

U.S. Textile Mills Cutting Production

Unemployment Reaches An Acute Stage—U.S. Has Too Many Raw Materials

New York, November 11.—Unemployment has reached an acute stage in the chief textile centers of the United States, owing to the condition of industrial stagnation which has set in in this part of the country.

In the big textile mill towns along the Atlantic seaboard many of the mills are reducing wages and are working only half time.

SURPLUS OF RAW MATERIALS

America is faced with the problem this year of disposing of a tremendous surplus of new materials and partially manufactured articles, according to an official commercial cable report to the Japanese Government yesterday.

The United States now has a surplus of more than eight billion bales of raw cotton, of three hundred million bushels of wheat, of $250,000,000 worth of packed provisions and of $750,000,000 worth of half-manufactured products, says the cable.

Foreign markets especially those of Europe, are being turned to by American bankers to relieve the pressure on the market, but there is no intention of raising prices. Europe, which is short on money, would be sold on long term credits, according to present plans.

PLANS TRADE COMBINE

Bankers, producers, importers, exporters and Chamber of Commerce executives in the United States have been called by Mr. John H. Drum, chairman of the American Bankers' Association, to meet in Chicago December 10 for the purpose of perfecting an organisation of several million dollars capital for financing foreign trade, according to a cable recently carried in the news service.

Admiral Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, is also reported to be advocating an international rate agreement to eliminate cut throat competition in shipping. Bankers in the Southern tier of States are organising a $25,000,000 syndicate to finance the disposal of this year's cotton crop.

The opinion has been expressed by many American bankers, notably by Mr. Festus J. Wade, governor of the St. Louis Federal Reserve, District that an adjustment of international exchange rates to nearer normal must be effected before the United States can hope to increase her foreign trade materially, since American money is now so much higher than that of the European nations that they will naturally avoid buying in America except when necessity demands. In order to offset this handicap, which affects Europe quite as much as America, Premier Delacroix of Belgium advocated the formation of an international clearing house which would issue bonds to act as an international commercial medium at the International Financial Conference recently held in Belgium.

PRICES IN U.S. DROPPING

During the past 40 days there has been a noticeable lowering of prices in the United States, which is making itself felt in nearly every line of commerce. The beginning of the downward trend is generally credited to Henry Ford, who announced a radical cut early in October of the machines turned out at his factories. So extensive has this price drop become, that the Government announced a few days ago that the Department of Justice would abolish its fair price commission, as it was believed that natural causes would now operate to bring prices nearer normal.—Japan Advertiser.

CUBA MORATORIUM MAY BE EXTENDED

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 18.—The plans of American bankers to take over loans amounting to over forty million dollars, which the Cuban bankers hold against the sugar-growers there, have been abandoned, and consequently the extension of the Cuban moratorium, which expires on November 30, is likely.

New York, November 19.—It is announced that as a means of relieving the financial situation in Cuba, local sugar-dealers are evolving plans to divert about two hundred thousand tons of raw sugar to Europe.

U.S. FOOD PRICES DROP

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, November 19.—An average decrease of three percent in all food prices is shown in statistics issued by the Department of Labor for the month of October. The price of sugar, it is announced, declined 24 percent, that of potatoes, 14 percent and the price of eggs 14 percent.

New York, Nov. 20.—All six of the American Sugar Company's refineries have been closed down as the result of slackness in the demand for sugar. The company's officials state that it has an ample stock of all grades on hand, and that the closing of the refineries is merely temporary, and entirely due to a lack of demand from the trade.

The British Dye Industry

Threatening Competition—America's Bid For A Huge Monopoly

During and in consequence of the war the manufacture of synthetic dyes in the United Kingdom was greatly developed. The war, in fact, enabled us to regain, in part, what we lost to Germany 50 years ago. Now we are told, says the Morning Post, that an enormous combine is being formed across the Atlantic to control, if not to monopolise, the dyestuff production of the world.

If this were done it would be a great blow not only to Lancashire and Yorkshire—where the great cotton and woollen districts are so dependent on dyestuffs—but to the country generally. It would interfere especially with the Lancashire cotton industry. It is hoped, in the course of time, to relieve the industry of this dependence by cultivating cotton within the British Empire. And no doubt Lancashire will do its best to face any difficulties caused by foreign control of dyes.

DEMANDS OF TEXTILE TRADE

In the year 1913 we exported textiles valued at £200,000,000 or thereabouts, and it is estimated that at least £80,000,000 of this sum represented materials in which dyes were used. During the same year we imported 18,000 tons of synthetic dyes valued at £1,800,000. At least 90 percent of these imports came from Germany. Our home consumption did not exceed a tenth of our total consumption, and even that percentage does not convey an accurate idea of our dependence on Germany at that time.

German colour producers are now making the strongest efforts to recapture their pre-war monopoly. It is said that they brought about among themselves a complete fusion of interests, and that they now control a capital estimated at £40,000,000.

"We think it would be fatal" (says the Board of Trade Committee appointed to consider the position of the textile trades after the war) "to expose the nascent British color-making industry—no matter what assistance it received from the State by subsidy or otherwise—to the overwhelming competition of so powerful a German group. In our opinion nothing short of the prohibition of imports, except under licence, would effectually protect it in the early days of its development, while the issue of such license by an independent authority would safeguard the interest of colour users and of our export trade in general." The Committee add that in regard to the issue of licences special attention should be paid to the products of the Swiss producers in view of the great services they rendered to the British textile trades during the war.

THE AMERICAN PLANS

In the same issue of the Morning Post a correspondent writes:

We have been resting in a fool's paradise so far as the British dyestuff industry is concerned. Having acquired most of the more important secrets of the industry as understood by Germany we only too soon began to pride ourselves on independence of other countries in this respect. Now an enormous combine is being promoted across the Atlantic to control, if not monopolise, the dyestuff production of the world.

That this is no vain apprehension may be seen from the fact that this corporation has already despatched its leading chemical expert to England to investigate the forces against which it must operate or compete. In an interview with the representative of the big American dyestuff company recently arrived in this country I have been able to learn some important facts as to its purpose and propaganda. This gigantic combine, which has hitherto been producing all the more important colors required by the dye trade, turning them out in 2,000 lb. units as against our 500, now proposes under new management to confine itself to certain colors necessary to key industries, and to produce them in such vast quantities and at so low a price that no British or other firms can compete with them.

By concentration on certain colors there is hope of reducing cost to a figure that will indeed drive all competitors out of the market. The chemical expert of the company agreed that any extended production of but a few colors of the dye industry, to the exclusion of minor colors essential hitherto to proper mixing and toning, was likely to bring the unhappy result of less artistic shades in the clothing of both men and women, producing a monotony of which we have already only too much, especially since the war. But the head of this reorganised dyestuff corporation is one of the leading financiers in the United States, and he does not propose to allow considerations of beauty to interfere with profit. The firm, moreover, intends to pursue its policy and plan without reference to the art or the interests of dye industries in other countries.

"We should note carefully and emulate the plans under way in Germany and the United States aiming to foster factories capable of producing any organic substance rapidly and in adequate quantities. This will involve some degree of attention to management and the creation of facilities for further research. I do urge this for the sake of perpetuating our eminence in fast colors and cloth that has long been the envy of the world. The American Government are doing all they can to further the interests of the dye industry, and our own should do no less.

Action Taken To Equalise Freight Rates From America

San Francisco, September 21.—The $250,000,000 of exports from Eastern manufacturing plants through San Francisco and Seattle to all points in the Orient every twelve months are not only to be protected as a steady traffic, but the volume increased by the Southern, Western and Union Pacific and Santa Fe lines and all other overland roads through their action at a Chicago meeting today by which the rates from point of origin to point of delivery, via coast ports, are definitely placed on a parity with the charges through New York and other Atlantic ports.

The reduction in rates, via coast ports, is such that the advantages heretofore enjoyed on such traffic by Atlantic ports are ended for good.

For some months past Atlantic ports have had a $1.80 less rate on steel per ton to the Orient. On other manufactured goods they also had less rates.

Steel, cotton and a hundred varieties of manufactured goods make up the large traffic, and there is said to be an even increasing demand for these supplies in the far East.

In this volume of business is to be seen, it is pointed out, $30,000,000 of steel for Japan, and $50,000,000 in cotton bales to the same country. China alone takes $80,000,000 of this export business.

The railroads under government control slighted coast ports in this traffic, thus giving Atlantic ports a great boom in Far East shipments.

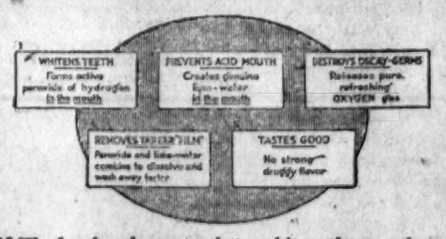
Five Dentifrice Features in One

(Newest ideas of all dentifrices combined in Calox



WHITENS TEETH
Forms active peroxide of hydrogen in the mouth
PREVENTS ACID MOUTH
Creates genuine lime-water in the mouth
DESTROYS DECAY-GERMS
Releases pure, refreshing OXYGEN gas
REMOVES TARTAR FILM
Peroxide and lime-water combine to dissolve and wash away tartar
TASTES GOOD
No strong druggy flavor

SOME of us brush our teeth to whiten them; others to prevent decay and still others to refresh the mouth. Many believe they have acid-mouth or wish to remove the "crust of tartar" which is forming.

Regardless of why you brush your teeth, study the chart above and decide whether the dentifrice you are now trying will do or is doing all that you can reasonably expect from a dentifrice.

If it is, continue to use it faithfully. If it is good for only one of the duties of a good dentifrice, you had better try McK & R Calox, which combines in one dentifrice most of the features of all modern dentifrices.

If you haven't heard the story of McK & R Calox—how it forms real lime-water in your mouth to prevent acids—how it creates fresh active peroxide on the teeth every time you brush them—how it releases genuine oxygen gas which penetrates into every crevice and "gasses" the dangerous decay-germs into harmlessness, if you don't know this story of the victory of modern science, send for "The McK & R Calox Story."

Your dentist will recommend McK & R Calox to you and your druggist has it. Try it next time you need a dentifrice.

The taste is a surprise to most people. It is not the least bit "druggy" which proves that it is possible to make a pleasant tasting dentifrice and that a "strong" taste does not prove the efficiency of any paste or powder.

Price 50 cts. per tin.

Little Hsu And The Japanese Legation

BY SHEN SZE-HUA

HSU SHU-TSENG, "Little Hsu," the champion of the Anfu Party, the cleverest, most energetic and most influential Anfu refugee, escaped from or left the barracks of the Japanese Legation, where he has sought asylum since the end of last July, sometime between dark on the 14th and daylight on the 15th instant. And on the 16th, Mr. Obata, Japanese Minister at Peking formally communicated Little Hsu's departure to the Waichiaopu; that he, who was surely in the Guard Compound on the night of November 14, had vanished next morning and could not be found anywhere in the compound. The report reads like a fairy tale, and we are nearly inclined to think that Little Hsu must possess some of the qualities of a fairy.

When the prominent and important Anfu leaders who have been placed under proscription and whose arrests have been ordered by mandates specially issued by the President, were permitted to reside in the Japanese Legation and barracks in the Legation Quarter at Peking or the "Hotel Obata" as one impertinent daily paper called it, while the American, the British, and the French legations had all announced their decision not to shelter these refugees either in the legation compounds or at private residences of their nationals; there was much talk among the Chinese people, that Mr. Obata, realising that the Anfu Club was a royal Japanese controlled Peking political organ, and that these refugees would help Japan in furthering her ambitions in China, was working to his own ends to enable Japan to reap a rich harvest from China.

At that time, we were not likely to believe these assumptions, for in the formal note of Mr. Obata sent to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs on August 9, it was clearly stated that all communication between the Anfu-ites and the outside world would be restricted and that they would be warned to entirely refrain from political activities. In this note we believed, because, in spite of the undeniable ill-feeling between the Chinese and the Japanese peoples and the frequent malpractices of Japan in her intercourses with China, Mr. Obata, representing a nation, would see to it that his promises were kept. Mr. Obata is a Minister, and a promise is always a promise. But what becomes of it now? Little Hsu is out of the Japanese Legation: Japan is still a nation; Mr. Obata is still a Minister; words are still words.

In his note to the Waichiaopu and to the other Legations at Peking on August 9, Mr. Obata asserted to the Chinese Government as well as the other foreign ministers, "they (the Anfu refugees) have at the same time been strictly warned entirely to refrain, during their sojourn, from concerning themselves in any way in politics, and moreover they are placed in entire isolation from the outside." But, as things have turned out one is very easily led to question the possibility of Little Hsu's escape, if he was really kept in "entire isolation. However clever and energetic he may be few will believe that he could succeed in escaping without the cognisance and co-operation of important figures of the Legation. That is, providing he really is not a fairy.

Furthermore, in the official note Mr. Obata sent to the Waichiaopu after Little Hsu's escape, he asserted, "Hsu Shu-tseng repeatedly communicated to me his desire to withdraw from the refuge of this legation and to leave the legation guard compound which has been his place of shelter, and each time I strongly urged his reconsideration." Whether Little Hsu had become such a fool as to demand of Mr. Obata his withdrawal from the shelter which, he knew, the latter would certainly refuse if he did not forget what he had said in his note of August 9, may be put aside. Undoubtedly it is true that as Little Hsu's repeated demands for freedom had sufficiently informed Mr. Obata of his intention to escape, he as a Minister representing his own government and remembering his own promise, should have been careful enough to prevent his escape. But as a result, we find that the most hated man in China is no longer in the Japanese Legation. The champion traitor is at large—probably in Japan.

Some of the Chinese newspapers report that Little Hsu left the Japanese legation dressed as a Japanese soldier and accompanied by a group of Japanese soldiers. Another report is that he was packed in a box and sent down to Tientsin where he was put on a boat for Japan. These reports, of course, remain unconfirmed for the moment. But the truth will eventually become known.

There are two thoughts in this connection. If Little Hsu has escaped to Japan he will resume his plottings there against the well-being of China and he will have confederates both there and in China. The other thought is this: If Minister Obata is unable to prevent the escape of Little Hsu he is equally unable to prevent the escape of the other Anfu leaders whom he is harboring, and he should at once deliver them up to the Chinese Government. The Chinese Government should demand this of him.

Correspondence

PORTUGUESE AND COUNCIL
Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—In your Sunday issue you published an article as a sequel to the series of letters, which under the caption "Portuguese and the Council," appeared during last week in your contemporary, "North China." Will you allow me to comment today on a few points in your article.

In the first place, your heading "Portuguese Here not Seekers of Municipal Posts." This is true in a way; but will you take it from me that it has been due less to any consciousness of lack of ability to fill the posts we apply for, than to our knowledge of the uselessness of applying for something which would be refused to us? So many cases of disappointment following one upon another, were bound to have the effect of scaring away any further hopes we might entertain.

As to the suggestion offered your representative by Mr. Liddell, the Secretary of the Council, that it has been through lack of qualification—that is knowledge of English—that the Portuguese have been mainly rejected, I would point out that I know of at least one case, where the applicant who had held a good position in one of Shanghai's large hongs for a number of years, during which he had to do all the correspondence relating to the work of his department, was rejected by the Council when he applied for one of the smallest posts vacant at one time. Besides, is Mr. Liddell sure that all the employes in the service of the Council are qualified for their knowledge of English?

Mr. Liddell mentions in particular the English and the Americans for whom preference was given on account of their knowledge of their own language perhaps. But was there any mention of any particular nationality during the whole correspondence of last week? The contention, if I remember aright, was that, if people of other nationalities were freely admitted, why not the Portuguese?

As for Mr. Liddell's assurance that "the applications for posts in the municipal service follow the same course of treatment and are considered on their merits regardless of nationality of the applicant," the Portuguese are by now so well accustomed to receiving the reply "Vacancy filled" or "No vacant post at present," that it will be hard for them to believe it, until some of them have been admitted to the municipal service.

This is the only way for the Council to prove its sense of fair play towards a section of Shanghai's foreign community, who up to the present time have been "qualified" only to pay taxes.

And then it would not be doing the Portuguese any favor. Why? Because, when the Council called for volunteers for the Special Police Reserve, the Portuguese responded immediately in great numbers. Because, when the Council required the services of the Portuguese Company of Volunteers at a very critical moment, that Company responded to a man. There were no shirkers among them. And there were no Portuguese interests to defend either.

And as the Portuguese have responded loyally in the past, so they will in the future, because they are Portuguese. Why therefore this discrimination against them?

Thanking you for the publication of this letter,

Yours truly,
C. M. R.

PEKING FAMINE RELIEF COMMITTEE
Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir,—In the issue of November 11, the North China Daily News publishes a criticism of the efforts made in Peking for famine relief, and signals out the "International Famine Relief Committee" as "specially viewed with mistrust." The grounds for this suspicion appear to be based not on any ascertained facts to the discredit of the Committee, but on the "general Chinese belief" and the "general Chinese estimation." The criticism does not question the sincerity of foreigners serving on the Committee, but does question the sincerity of the Chinese, affirming that "the distinction between Chinese members of the Committee and a Government notoriously short of cash is too slender by the common judgment for the safety of the funds. Again no facts are given but an appeal is made to the "common judgment," presumably of the Chinese. The distinction between foreigners and Chinese serving on this Committee is particularly objectionable, for if as suggested "60 percent of the money entrusted to the Commmittee will be spent in expenses" both foreigners and Chinese will be jointly responsible.

The best reply to this alleged untrustworthiness will be found, in the statement of the following facts. The United International Famine Relief Committee is composed of Chinese and foreigners, of several different nationalities. The Chinese members are gentlemen of the highest position and ability, and have been elected to serve on the Committee by members of the various Chinese Famine Relief Societies, the foreigners were each chosen by their fellow nationals, and all give their time and labor gratuitously with no other end than to relieve the sufferers.

Every cent entrusted to this Committee is spent by order of the Administrative Council, consisting of equal numbers of Chinese and foreigners, and while the sums spent in relief by this Committee, or Committees represented on it, amount to about $500,000; the sums spent as expenses by this Committee do not yet reach $100, or one in five thousand.

Foreigners in the office and on the field are alike giving their time and services gratuitously to enable them to carry the largest amount of relief to the greatest numbers possible. Money voted by the Administrative Council has all been supplied to missionaries or to responsible foreigners, Catholic and Protestant, and most grateful thanks have been received.

The relations between this Committee and the Government are these: the Government in considering the 42 hsiens where relief is necessary will take note of those in which this Committee is prepared to administer relief and will hand over to the Committee a proportionate share of the money and grain to be distributed, or the sums to be spent giving labor to the sufferers. At the request of this Committee the Government has consented to transport grain and other supplies free, and to issue free, railway passes to those engaged in relief work.

This Committee has held a Conference at which representatives from Hankow, Honan, Shantung, Shansi, and Shensi were present, and has also conferred with representatives from Moukden, and Tientsin, and some arrangements have been made respecting the allotment of different areas in which the different Committees will expend their efforts, so that a large district is to a considerable extent dependent upon what this Committee can do.

Any suspicions spread abroad that prevent contributions from reaching the Committee really deprives the starving people of the succour that would otherwise be given.

Unfortunately there are many who scatter reckless calumnies, many of them glaring untruths, and it is impossible not to feel that those who originate such scandals and circulate them do so to find an excuse for not exercising the generosity that a common humanity demands. Such cannot be the object, of the North China Daily News and we do not doubt that it will willingly publish these facts which should form a sufficient answer to suspicions based on the vagaries of common opinion.

We are, Sir,
Yours truly,
(Signed)
F. H. Hwang,
Arthur Sowerby,
Honorary Secretaries.

A BOOST FOR THE Y.M.C.A.

A soldier returned from Mesopotamia with the delusion that he was completely without money—"not an unreasonable delusion in these times"—wrote a letter to the Lord for ten pounds to help him out. The letter was delivered at the War Office, and the clerks there were so touched by the appeal that they subscribed seven pounds and sent it to the man in hospital. He then wrote a second letter: "Dear Lord: Thank you very much for the money you sent me, but if you send any more don't sent it through the War Office, as they stopped three pounds of what I asked for. Send it please, through the Y.M.C.A."

The Shaw Case

Japanese Press Comments And Surmises

(Japan Chronicle)

During Mr. G. L. Shaw's incarceration in Seoul prison, the Japanese papers, perhaps naturally, did not take a great deal of interest in the case, being content for the most part to repeat the unfounded statements made by the police and occasionally to improve upon them with romances about his Korean connections. The worst offenders were the semi-official and other propagandist organs. Papers like the Seoul Press and the Asian Review merely exposed the weakness of the case, and, as usual, added nothing to the good reputation of their country in the process. In the Herald of Asia appeared the most able article, in fact the only able article, that has been published against Mr. Shaw, written by a distinguished jurist who knows better, but who found himself able to reconcile with his conscience and his nationality the devotion of his learning to the prejudice of an innocent man improperly held prisoner. But even this prostitution of learning defeated its own end by showing that with the greatest available ingenuity it was impossible to make out a good case, the show of authority in the Herald article being three-parts bluff because not properly germane to the matter in hand. In an English Court such advocacy would rejoice the heart of the opposing counsel and damn the case past redemption. We may have occasion to deal with this dishonorable essay on another occasion, since it illustrates the inevitable moral blunting that waits on certain forms of paid advocacy.

LEGATION AND EMBASSY

The principal Osaka papers have now commented on Mr. Shaw's release on bail, which the Mainichi suspects must have come about through complex circumstances, since such enlargement is unusual at this stage of the proceedings. It is curious that, according to the Mainichi's account, the British diplomatic authorities in Japan had nothing to do with the matter, but all that was done came through the British Legation in Peking. Our contemporary states that at the time of Mr. Shaw's arrest the British Minister in Peking (or, more properly, the Charge d'Affairs, the Minister being absent) asked Mr. Obata to secure Mr. Shaw's release, that Mr. Obata referred the matter to Tokio, and that the Foreign Office conferred with the Government General of Korea on the matter. The Korean Government, however, flatly refused to release Mr. Shaw. We do not know what grounds the Mainichi has for implying that the British Embassy has not moved in the matter. As the offence against Mr. Shaw was committed on Japanese soil, and as the excuse made for his arrest was that he had offended against the Japanese law, it would be more natural that the Embassy in Tokio should deal with the matter rather than the Peking Legation. However, our contemporary may have special sources of information. This would seem to be indicated by its statement that there has lately been considerable interchange of correspondence between Kasumigaseki and Seoul on the Shaw case, and it attributes this, and the release of Mr. Shaw, to the fact that the Peking Legation had resumed the negotiations which had been temporarily dropped after the first refusal of Baron Saito to do anything.

RECALCITRANT OFFCIALS

The Mainichi plainly admits that diplomatic arguments on the legality of Mr. Shaw's arrest must have made the position of the Korea authorities untenable, and there is also more than a suggestion that the whole affair was brought about by the stupid arrogance of the militaristic officials in Korea, as we have ourselves surmised. The arrest of the Rev. E. M. Mowry and the beating of the Rev. John Thomas were referred to in the Japanese Press at the time as actions done in order to let the Koreans know that the Japanese authority was absolute, that foreigners were subject to it just as much as Koreans. Such actions must also be prompted by the idea that if a man shows kindly feeling for subject people he must be helping them to conspire against their masters. Various Japanese messages received since Mr. Shaw's arrest to the effect that his arrest had struck terror to the hearts of the malcontents along the Yalu River are significant of the effect which in certain minds would be expected to follow such an arrest, and they probably explain the arrest itself. The obstinate refusal of the official in Korea to let go their prisoner is easily understood. They have always believed in showing the strong hand, and to this idiosyncrasy most of Korea's troubles are due.

THE ROMANTIC SIDE

The Asahi in its comments hardly leaves the realm of romance. To this organ of public information it was neither Embassy nor Legation nor the breakdown of the case to which Mr. Shaw owes his release, but to the prayers of his wife. With the greatest inclination to believe the more romantic or sentimental story, it hardly presents itself as likely that a woman's prayer would avail more with the Seoul authorities than the Foreign Office to which they are subject. The correspondent who sends this version tells how he tracked Mr. Shaw to his new lair with difficulty but found he had gone for a walk. Mrs. Shaw he says declared that Mr. Shaw left the prison much against his will, desiring to stay till he was vindicated—and there may be some truth in that because it would be like him to do so, and is largely in accord with the information published already about his intention to stay in Seoul, if not in prison, until the case is dismissed. Mrs. Shaw also told the interviewer that it would be useless to come again as Mr. Shaw was not going to talk about a sub judice case with newspaper reporters. The tactful reporter asked her if she also were anti-Japanese, and was asked in reply how he could put such a question to a Japanese lady.

The Seoul Press celebrates the 4th inst. by reproducing the pestilent article from the Herald of Asia mentioned above, while it has no information at all of the release of Mr. Shaw which took place the previous day. But then it took a month to discover that he was in prison in its immediate vicinity. As the younger Finsbury said, "Golly! What a paper!"

Taking It Calmly

(Japan Advertiser)

Fears that the passing of the Californian land law amendment would be followed by outbreaks of angry feeling in Japan have proved groundless. Six clear days have passed since the news was public property, and in no way in which public opinion is wont to express itself has there been evidence of loss of balance. Two meetings have been held and many editorials have been written, but the prevailing tone has been moderate. The papers that adopt an extremist attitude form a distinct and easily identified group. They are always the same and their policy is always the same. They represent the least independent and least influential section of the metropolitan press. The larger and wealthier and more widely read journals have maintained the generally reasonable tone that has marked the controversy.

The two meetings in Tokio offered no reason for modifying the view that the public is unexcited. One was a public meeting of the usual type, open to all comers. It was attended by at most a thousand people. The speakers were journalists, politicians whose reputation is still in the making and a few "student orators." The other gathering was organised by that influential body called the Japan Emigration Society. Only some 50 people were present. They made up in importance what was lacking in numbers, but most of the gentlemen who took part, including the principal speaker, Marquis Okuma, are politically opposed to the present Government, and it is not unfair to suggest that the sense of duty which impelled them to hold the meeting was in part a sense of duty to their party. Even so, there was an absence of angry words; war talk was condemned, and the remedy suggested was publicity and agitation. As another sign of fair weather the absence of canards should be noted. We have had nothing so funny as yesterday's San Francisco rumor that the Japanese were buying up creamery products to make smoke-screens for warships. It cannot be pretended that the Japanese are indifferent or that the question is not charged with dangerous matter, but on this present occasion it must be fully acknowledged that the people and the organs of public opinion have kept their temper very well. The gravity of the issue has been consistently remembered and, with the exception of the small chauvinistic group of newspapers already mentioned, the various participants in the discussion have refrained from provocative suggestions. When we consider how the question touches on national susceptibilities we shall probably all agree that this attitude on the part of the Japanese press and public deserves credit.

To what are we to attribute this satisfactory tone? There is no doubt that the authorities have made every effort to preserve a calm atmosphere. We hesitate to ascribe the whole of the credit to the Government and the officials, because that course would involve the theory that the occasional anti-American outbursts of the press may be due to official inspiration.

'Five Years' Hell' In Rural Parish

Rusper, Sussex, Sept. 22.—Hell has often been described by ministers of the gospel, but it remained for the Rev. E. F. Synott rector of Rusper, to localise that area in his new book of personal experiences called "Five Years' Hell in a Country Parish."

Describing his relations with various parishioners, the reverend gentleman goes into considerable detail about some things which apparently made the parish "hell." He says the people of Rusper fancied they wanted a strong man, but that he "soon found they really wanted a jellyfish."

Apparently the Rev. Mr. Synott was an object of criticism by some of his flock, and he gives a list of "my imaginary crimes," among them these:

"I sang too loudly."

"I did not cross myself."

"I raced through the service like a man about to catch a train."

"I let the children fall when I baptised them."

"I put the wedding ring on a lady's thumb."

WEDDING BLUNDER

"I married the wrong people."

Not long ago allegations more serious than these were brought against the rector by members of the parish, but he was vindicated by the Consistory Court of Inquiry.

In his book he makes some extremely free and frank criticisms regarding the villagers under his spiritual authority.

"Some of the wives," he writes "nudge and kick their husbands behind the shelter of a pew. I have seen some women worshippers thrust out their tongues in the direction of other worshippers."

"One or two women in my congregation specialise in footwear. They scrutinise my boots to see that they are properly blacked and that the polish is of the radiance which they consider requisite."

"I had a little bit of Heaven when preaching to the soldiers at Rolley Camp. They did not look down at my boots and say that because they were protected by a few useful hobnails I was defying the House of God and standing between them and blessings from above."

No doubt the Rector worked up a fine grouch during his five years in "hell" and he certainly put a lot of thought into working it off in his book.

BACK DOOR FOR HIM

"With people of this—the new rich—type," he observes "a rector stands much on the level of a butler or head housemaid, and he may not be so well paid as the chauffeur. I really believe the rector is expected to use the tradesmen's entrance."

"Sometimes when I noticed that my morning congregation was smaller than usual and that some well-known faces were missing I could not help thinking that I knew where they were gone. They were busy elsewhere—on my farm poaching my rabbits."

"I have preached on the subjects of All Saints' Day, All Souls' Day and (owing to the behavior of some of my parishioners) when the first of April came around on All Fools' Day. This was one of the sermons which gave the greatest offense."

"It is my experience that a great sorrow banishes my appetite. I have seen sorrowing men and women after a funeral gorging themselves as though they were eating their Christmas dinner.

"The feudal lord of the eleventh century has gone. His place is taken by the new rich, the man with money and no pedigree. Many of the men in my parish are women."

"There are no Helens of Troy in Rusper! Some women there are, who, denied beauty of face and form, make themselves more repellant by their thoughts, words and deeds. Long hours spent in idle and venomous gossip seem to leave a mark on their plain and vacant faces."

ROOSTER MUSICIAN

"Some people think that a clergyman's cockerels should produce the soothing notes of a cathedral organ."

"If there has been a remarkable bargain sale in London and some of the wealthy ladies have returned to the village, accompanied by their husbands with quince-like expressions due to depleted pockets, them we know that a jumble sale is imminent."

"After one of these general reshuffles of old clothes I barely prevent myself from bowing to the wrong people."

Rusper has become a byword! It is a synonym for slander, backbiting and gossip, and as such it will probably appear in the standard English dictionaries of the future."

"When we clergymen reflect on our work in the villages of England, the furies seem to dance on our midnight pillow, for every good work we attempt to carry out seems to be frustrated by the poisoned tongues of local gossipers, backbiters and scandal-mongers!"

Is Baby strong?

A strong child suffers little danger of rickets, teething troubles, measles, whooping cough and childhood ailments. Start giving SCOTT'S Emulsion to your child now. Then you will see baby grow sturdy and strong, with firm limbs and all the vigour of natural health.

Imitations lead only to disappointment and loss of time and money. See the fisherman on the package you buy, and thus be sure you have get genuine

SCOTT'S Emulsion

No doubt exists, however, in the minds of observers who have watched the discussion of the moderating influence which has been steadily and on the whole successfully exercised. The Government seems to have come to the conclusion that the question had better be settled and got out of the way. They realise that a compromise is necessary in which both sides will have to make some allowances for the difficulties of the other, and the negotiations at Washington are evidently directed to a definite agreement which both can accept with the prospect of taking this inflammable matter "out of politics." With such a policy in view it was the interest of the Government to prepare the public mind for a compromise and their efforts have been well seconded by the press.

On the whole, it seems that the prospects of a settlement are brighter than they have ever been. The attitude of the Japanese Government indicates that on this side there exists a real hope of settlement. The pronouncement of the State Department on the eve of the election, cautious though it was, conveyed that the Federal Government was similarly hopeful. The long delays and the numerous discussions have educated public opinion to a juster understanding of the concrete problems involved in the extensive and unrestricted mingling of peoples so different as Americans and Japanese. While the debaters still disagree as to whether discrimination is fundamentally economic or fundamentally racial, they have learnt that if they deal with the economic aspect, the racial trouble will not arise. Our Washington messages of the last few days speak with growing confidence of the working out of a basis of settlement between Mr. Morris and the State Department on the one hand and Baron Shidehara on the other. The newspapers here are talking of Japanese legislation which shall smooth the way by removing the disabilities under which foreigners are placed in respect of the same questions of land ownership that have long agitated California. Mr. Morris, who has been serving at the State Department since May, has received his overdue vacation. That is a pretty clear indication that the discussions at Washington have reached a definite point.

Public opinion here seems ready to accept a reasonable settlement. The risk of the political enemies of the Hara Cabinet making capital out of the business is an obstacle still to be reckoned with, but Marquis Okuma, though feeling bound to intervene, has modified his ideas since the days when he was proposing a commission of 100 leading Japanese to investigate the question. In the meantime it seems as though the Opposition is willing to fall in line with the others, and it is perhaps not entirely a wild guess to suppose that the recent conferences of the Elder Statesmen have exercised influence in favor of the Government's policy of settlement. There seems great reason to hope for that this vexed question will at last be disposed of, and the best thing we can do, each in our own sphere, is to keep the discussion on the level of sanity, remembering each other's difficulties, and remembering especially that nothing that we are asked to give up is half so valuable as the reinforcement to American-Japanese peace which we may gain.

FURS
GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE

Our strong desire is to extend our business. During the early part of this season many of our branches throughout the Northern parts of China and Manchuria, and elsewhere, have been searching for valuable furs. We have now made these into dresses, muffs, rugs, and other suitable articles for presents. We have also different coloured skins for the trimming of dresses, also a great deal of the finest fox, ermines, white bear skin and tiger skins. All these are on exhibition in our store. "Christmas" will soon be here. Our manager has put an advertisement in all the leading newspapers to inform all our old and new customers that all prices have been greatly reduced. You will be welcome at all times.
